As an important partner of Aon, we wanted to make sure you were aware of this morning's announcement:

- This morning we announced the relocation of our corporate headquarters to the U.K., which includes a change of our place of incorporation from Delaware to the U.K., and the relocation of several key executive officers to London
- This transaction will require a shareholder vote to approve, is expected to close in the second quarter and additional details can be found in the S-4 prospectus that was filed with the SEC this morning

We expect to drive significant value to shareholders, under a U.K. territorial tax system, in three primary ways:

- First, as we deliver on our operating margin targets, and uses of cash, such as pension contributions and restructuring decline over the next several years, we expect greater financial flexibility of future free cash flow
- Second, access to approximately $300 million of excess capital held internationally on the balance sheet upon close of the transaction
- Third, increasing future cash flows through a significant reduction in our global effective tax rate, due primarily to changes in the geographical distribution of income. A reduction in our global tax rate over the long-term, similar to the reduction achieved over the last five years, would allow Aon to remain competitive with certain global competitors

In summary, this move is a natural evolution of Aon's long-term strategy as a global firm; and the financial flexibility resulting from the transaction will further enhance Aon's ability to:

- Drive future growth globally
- and Deliver increased shareholder value

We have attached the press release and S-4 prospectus that was filed with the SEC this morning for your convenience.

If you have any questions in the meantime, please feel free to reach out to Scott at 312-381-3983 or Erika at 312-381-5957.

We look forward to speaking with you after earnings and thank you for your continued support.
