Dear Fellow Shareholders,

Equity investors, including our Fund, took it on the chin during the first half of 2008. During 2008 year-to-date, the Fund s net asset value (NAV) dropped 14.3%. The S&P 500, calculated on a total return basis, declined 11.9% during the same period. At the risk of being repetitive, we think NAV is the only proper way to measure the performance of a closed-end fund, so we ignore the short-term movement of the Fund s stock price.

Since the beginning of 2000, the Fund NAV has outperformed the S&P 500 as shown in the graph below:

Value of $100 invested in Eagle Capital Growth Fund, Inc. and S&P 500 since 2000

Except for energy and commodities-based investments, there was no place for investors to hide during the first half of 2008. Oil prices continue to soar (which operates as a brake on worldwide economic activity), and rising commodity prices across the board have wreaked havoc on manufacturers pricing power and margins.

With all of this bad economic news, which is repeated daily in the media, what should long-term investors like us do? Should we sell everything in our portfolio, stash the cash in U.S. Treasury bills and wait for clear skies? Hardly. As observers of history, we know that economic downturns are a fact of life and provide the basis for future growth. While psychologically, market downturns are difficult, lower stock prices provide opportunities. There is an old saying: You make most of your money in bear markets you just don't know it until much later.

As we noted at the Fund s 2008 Annual Meeting, over 80% of the Fund s portfolio companies are buying back their own shares. Therefore, by just continuing to hold our existing portfolio positions, the Fund s interest in its portfolio companies operating businesses is rising. And, the Fund doesn t own just average or ordinary companies.

We ve added to the portfolio a number of highly-profitable, growing companies that generate significant cash flow. Although the mutual fund managers suffer during market downturns, they continue to generate strong earnings and cash flow. So far during 2008, we ve purchased shares of Franklin Resources, Inc. (BEN) and added to our position of Eaton Vance (EV). Moreover, we re enamored with the data processing business, and have added Automatic Data Processing, Inc. (ADP) and Paychex, Inc. (PAYX); both are growing nicely and generating cash earnings.

In fact, if one disregards the Fund s bank and financial investments (they get their own special attention below), all of the Fund s portfolio companies generate return on equity (ROE) in excess of 10%. (Most additions to the portfolio during the first half of 2008 sport ROEs that are much better than that in excess of 20%.) Our portfolio companies are quite profitable and will continue to prosper once general economic conditions improve.

Ah, banks and other lenders. In hindsight, the Fund had too much money invested in banks and lenders. However, now is not the time to sell. We intend to ride out the current economic cycle, and then look to pare back our financial holdings. Frankly, we continue to be amazed by incompetent bankers, and it will take a compelling situation to get us to commit new money to a bank or lender in the future.

Benjamin Graham, the legendary investor, once noted that in the short run the market is a voting machine, and in the long run it is a weighing machine. We couldn't agree more. Illustrative of where our thinking diverges from that of the general public is General Electric Corp. (GE).

GE s stock price has declined almost 30% since the beginning of the year, from about $38 on New Year s Day to approximately $27 a share at the end of June. In fact, GE has been a terrible investment since CEO Jeff Immelt took the reins in early September 2001, just days before the 9/11 tragedy. During Immelt s tenure, GE s earnings have risen substantially, but GE s stock price has declined. Many investors are bailing out of GE, thinking that the recent stock price performance is a harbinger of things to come. Nothing could be further from the truth.

GE is a world class company engaged in producing jet engines, locomotives, industrial equipment, sophisticated medical equipment, wind turbines, water desalination plants, television programming (NBC), household appliances (at least for the time being), etc., etc. GE s annualized revenues are in the $170 billion range (with a majority of them generated outside of the United States), and revenues are growing at a low double digit rate. GE s earnings per share have grown at 9% a year for the past five years and should continue to grow in the future. GE has a AAA-rated balance sheet (one of only five U.S. industrial companies in that elite category) and currently has a dividend yield of 4.7%.

Yes, GE faces some current headwinds. GE has a large financial business, a portion of which is focused on private label credit cards, and there are certain to be some hiccups in that business. However, GE also finances aircraft, locomotives and major industrial facilities worldwide (and has the balance sheet to do it); GE s financial strength, and its ability and desire to use that financial strength and prowess, is being ignored.

In our view, the market s assessment that GE is worth only a price/earnings multiple of 12-13 (based on actual 2007 earnings) and 12 (based on estimated 2008 earnings), in either case less than the average company, is flawed. The Fund purchased more GE shares during the first half of the year. Unfortunately, the Fund now has a full position in GE, and we re unable to add more GE shares at the current price. But if we could, we would.

By the time there is only good economic and investing news, most of the bargains will be gone. Market downturns aren t fun emotionally. But we re confident that, for the long-term, continuing to hold and invest new funds in great companies is the correct strategy. We understand how difficult it is to tell our broker to buy when all of the rest of the world seems to be selling. Investing is a long-term proposition, and we aren t going to let unpleasant short-term economic news divert our attention and focus.

We appreciate your continued patience and support.

Notes to Financial Statements

(1) Organization.

Eagle Capital Growth Fund, Inc., a Maryland corporation (Fund), is a diversified closed-end investment company subject to the Investment Company Act of 1940. The Fund changed its corporate name from NAIC Growth Fund, Inc. to its current name at the end of May, 2008.

(2) Significant Accounting Policies.

The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies followed by the Fund not otherwise set forth in the Notes to the Financial Statements:

Dividends and distributions Dividends from the Fund s net investment income and realized net long- and short-term capital gains will be declared and distributed at least annually.

Investments Investments in equity securities are stated at market value, which is determined based on quoted market prices or dealer quotes. If no such price is available on the valuation date, the Board of Directors has determined that the most recent market price be used. The Fund uses the amortized cost method to determine the carrying value of short-term debt obligations. Under this method, investment securities are valued for both financial reporting and Federal tax purposes at amortized cost, which approximates fair value. Any discount or premium is amortized from the date of acquisition to maturity. Investment security purchases and sales are accounted for on a trade date basis. Interest income is accrued on a daily basis while dividends are included in income on the ex-dividend date.

Use of estimates The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Federal income taxes The Fund intends to comply with the general qualification requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies such as the Fund. The Fund plans to distribute annually at least 90% of its taxable income, including net long-term capital gains, to its shareholders. In order to avoid imposition of the excise tax applicable to regulated investment companies, the Fund intends to declare as dividends in each calendar year an amount equal to at least 98% of its net investment income and 98% of its net realized capital gains (including undistributed amounts from previous years).

The following information is based upon the Federal income tax basis of portfolio investments as of June 30, 2008:

Gross unrealized appreciation	$ 7,070,740
Gross unrealized depreciation	(2,267,202)
Net unrealized appreciation	$ 4,803,538
Federal income tax basis	$ 16,370,451

Expenses The Fund s service providers bear all of their expenses in connection with the performance of their services. The Fund bears all of its expenses incurred in connection with its operations including, but not limited to, investment advisory fees (as discussed in Note 3), legal and audit fees, taxes, insurance, shareholder reporting and other related costs. As noted in Note 3, the Fund s investment advisor, as part of its responsibilities under the Investment Advisory Agreement, is required to provide certain internal administrative services to the Fund at such investment advisor s expense. The Investment

Advisory Agreement provides that the Fund may not incur annual aggregate expenses in excess of two percent (2%) of the first $10 million of the Fund s average net assets, one and a half percent (1.5%) of the next $20 million of the average net assets, and one percent (1%) of the remaining average net assets for any fiscal year. Any excess expenses are the responsibility of the investment advisor.

Fair Value Accounting Effective January 1, 2008, the Fund adopted SFAS 157. SFAS 157 established a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosure about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 was issued to bring conformity to the definition of fair value; prior to SFAS 157 there was no conformity in the accounting guidance regarding the definition of fair value.

Valuation Hierarchy

SFAS 157 establishes a three-level valuation hierarchy for disclosure of fair value measurements. The valuation hierarchy is based upon the transparency of inputs to the valuation of an asset or liability as of the measurement date. The three levels are defined as follows:

- Level 1 inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets in which the Fund can participate.
- Level 2 inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instrument.
- Level 3 inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement, and include inputs that are available in situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the related asset or liability.

A financial instrument s categorization within the valuation hierarchy is based upon the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for instruments measured at fair value, as well as the general classification of such instruments pursuant to the valuation hierarchy.

Assets

Common Stock Investments

All of the Fund s common stock investments are classified within Level 1 of the valuation hierarchy as quoted price are available in an active market.

The following table presents the financial instruments carried at fair value as of June 30, 2008, as indentified on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities and by the SFAS 157 hierarchy (as described above):

Assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of June 30, 2008:

	Quoted Prices in Active Markets for Identical Assets Level 1	Significant Other Observable Inputs Level 2	Significant Unobservable Inputs Level 3	Balance at June 30, 2008
Common Stock Investments	$21,173,989	$	$	$21,173,989

(3) Certain Service Providers Arrangements

Investment advisor For its services under the Investment Advisory agreement, the investment advisor receives a monthly fee calculated at an annual rate of three-quarters of one percent (0.75%) of the weekly net asset value of the Fund, as long as the weekly net asset value is at least $3.8 million. The investment advisor is not entitled to any compensation for any week in which the average weekly net asset value falls below $3.8 million. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, the investment advisor is required to provide certain internal administrative services to the Fund at the investment advisor s expense.

Effective June 1, 2007, following shareholder approval of the Investment Advisory Agreement, Sims Capital Management LLC (SCM) began serving as the Fund s investment advisor. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, SCM is responsible for the management of the Fund s portfolio, subject to oversight by the Fund s Board of Directors. SCM is 50 percent owned by the President and CEO who is also Director of the Fund who is also an owner of more than five percent of the Fund s outstanding shares. A family member of the same President and CEO owns the remaining 50 percent of SCM.

Custodian LaSalle Bank, NA (LaSalle), an affiliate of Bank of America Corporation, serves as the Funds custodian pursuant to a custodian agreement. As the Funds custodian, LaSalle receives fees and compensation of expenses for services provided including, but not limited to, an annual account charge, annual security fee, security transaction fee and statement of inventory fee.

Transfer Agent Transfer agent American Stock Transfer & Trust Company (AST) serves as the Fund s transfer agent and dividend disbursing agent pursuant to custody agreements. AST receives fees for services provided including, but not limited to, account maintenance fees, activity and transaction processing fees and reimbursement for its out-of-pocket expenses. AST also acts as the agent under the Fund s Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan.

(4) Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan.

The Fund has a Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan (Plan) which allows shareholders to reinvest cash dividends and make cash contributions. Pursuant to the terms of the DRIP, cash dividends may be used by the DRIP agent to either purchase shares from the Fund or in the open market, depending on the most favorable pricing available to DRIP participants. Voluntary cash contributions from DRIP participants are used to purchase Fund shares in the open market. A complete copy of the DRIP is available on the Fund s website (www.eaglecapitalgrowthfund.com) or from AST, the DRIP agent.

(5) Fund Investment Transactions

Purchases and sales of securities, other than short-term securities, for the six-month period ended June 30, 2008 were $3,266,557 and $1,902,648, respectively.

(6) Financial Highlights.

The Financial Highlights present a per share analysis of how the Fund s net asset value has changed during the periods presented. Additional quantitative measures expressed in ratio form analyze important relationships between certain items presented in the financial statements. The total investment return based on market value assumes that shareholders bought into the Fund at the bid price and sold out of the Fund at the bid price. In reality, shareholders buy into the Fund at the asked price and sell out of the Fund at the bid price. Therefore, actual returns may differ from the amounts shown.

2008 Annual Shareholder Meeting

The Fund s 2008 annual meeting of shareholders (Annual Meeting) was held on April 17, 2008, for the following purposes:
