ITEM 1. REPORTS TO STOCKHOLDERS.

The Semi-Annual Report to Stockholders follows.

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

Performance Review: On a long-term basis, as of June 30, 2004, your Fund had a three-year cumulative total return of 23.5%. In comparison, the S&P Utilities Index had a total return of -27.1%, while a composite of the S&P Utilities Index and the Lehman Utility Bond Index, reflecting the stock and bond ratio of the Fund, had a total return of -18.2%.

On a shorter-term basis, your Fund had a total return of -5.9% for the quarter ended June 30, 2004. In comparison, the S&P Utilities Index had a total return of 1.3%. A composite of the S&P Utilities Index and the Lehman Utility Bond Index had a total return of -1.9%. Year-to-date your Fund had a total return of -0.3%. In comparison, the S&P Utilities Index had a total return of 3.8%. A composite of the S&P Utilities Index and the Lehman Utility Bond Index had a total return of 2.7%.

During the second quarter of 2004, your Fund paid three monthly 6.5 cents per share dividends. The 6.5 cents per share monthly rate, without compounding, would be 78 cents annualized, or a 7.41% common stock dividend yield based on the June 30, 2004, closing price of $10.52. This compares favorably with the quarter-end yields of 3.58% on the Dow Jones Utility Index and 3.80% on the S&P Utilities Index.

Background and Implications of Changes in the Fed's Monetary Policy: In recent years, the Federal Reserve's monetary policy has been "accommodative", meaning that it has been designed to stimulate economic growth by lowering short term interest rates, making money less expensive to borrow. In May 2004, however, the Federal Reserve's Open Market Committee (FOMC) announced that in order to curb inflationary tendencies it intends to start removing its accommodative stance "at a pace that is likely to be measured." What caused the Fed to change its policy, what can investors expect over the coming months from the Federal Reserve, and what are the implications for your Fund?

The Federal Reserve's stated goal is fostering sustainable noninflationary growth. Economic growth reported thus far in 2004, especially gross domestic product (GDP), has been strong. Through the second quarter of 2004, year-over-year inflation-adjusted GDP expanded by 4.8%, compared to 4.4% for calendar year 2003, and 2.3% for 2002. The average rate of growth for the last 15 calendar years has been 3.0%. In addition to GDP, there is a second key measure of economic health--gains in employment--which has also begun to show strength in 2004. In his July congressional testimony, Fed Chairman Greenspan noted that gains in nonfarm payroll employment averaged about 200,000 per month for the last six months, up sharply from the 60,000 average for the last quarter of 2003. During the last 15 years, nonfarm job creation has averaged approximately 130,000 per month for all periods and about 200,000 a month in expansionary periods. Job creation has been an important factor in bringing the unemployment rate down from 6.3% in June 2003 to 5.5% in July 2004, a trend the Fed would like to see continue. From the Fed's perspective, the expanding rate of growth in both GDP and employment indicates that the stimulus provided in the recent past should be sufficient to sustain economic momentum and that it may be time to scale back the Fed's accommodative stance.

The Fed is now concerned that economic growth can lead to inflation if demand for goods and services exceeds the economy's capacity to supply them.

Edgar Filing: DNP SELECT INCOME FUND INC - Form N-CSRS

Recognizing that the improvement in the labor market will likely increase household income and eventually result in higher levels of consumption, the Fed is closely watching measures of the economy's ability to increase production without creating inflationary pressures. One important measure is capacity utilization, which now stands at 77.2%, higher than the previous figure but still below the 82.1% level that existed when the Fed last became less accommodative. The fact remains, however, that inflation has increased somewhat. Depending on which measure is chosen, much of the recent increase in inflation is related to the surge in energy prices. Because energy prices can be volatile, many economists believe some measures are better indicators of long-term inflation trends than others. Chairman Greenspan prefers the core personal consumption expenditure price index (PCE). This index measures the rate of price increase based on how consumers actually spend their money exclusive of volatile food and energy items. The twelve-month change in the core PCE was 1.1% at the end of last year and was reported to be 1.5% in June of this year.

Although the increase of core PCE inflation is important, the level of increase is moderate. Also, it must be remembered that within the last twelve months the Fed was concerned about the possibility of deflation brought on by the economic impacts of the bear stock market and corporate scandals of 2000-2002; the capital goods expenditure contraction related to the falling stock market and the completion of year 2000 (Y2K) technology upgrades; and the terrorist attacks and war in Iraq. Nonetheless, the FOMC responded in May to the changing balance between demonstrated economic growth and uncertainties related to inflationary/deflationary pressures by deciding to remove monetary accommodation in a measured way.

Investors got their first measures of restraint on June 30 and August 10, 2004, when the Fed raised the federal funds rate in two 25 basis point increments to 1.50%. If the Fed desires to return interest rates to a more neutral level, we can expect more increases in the period ahead, although how much is unknown. Some economists note that historically the real federal funds rate, the funds rate minus inflation, has averaged around 2.5%. Other economists favor the Taylor Rule which relies on central tendency forecasts of GDP and inflation. Yields on longer maturity Treasury notes and bonds also give a market expectation of the future path of interest rates. These and other methodologies forecast federal funds with a very wide range of 2.00% to 4.50% over the next 12 months.

As a practical matter, it is the future course of unknown developments in economic growth and inflation, and the Federal Reserve's response to them, that will determine how high interest rates go. A case in point is the just released July payroll number which was so weak that some market participants have called into question the Fed's ability to pursue a measured tightening policy. Our favored scenario is moderate and recognizes the crosscurrents in the economic outlook. We think the funds rate will be moved to 2.00% over the remainder of this year, and then the Fed will pause to determine the economic reaction. Subsequently, if additional increases are required, rates will be managed higher, but if the economy weakens, there will be room once again to move rates lower.

Investor perception historically has been that utility share prices can react to changes in interest rates. Over long periods, utility share prices have actually exhibited a relatively low correlation to interest rates, but over shorter periods factors affected by the level of interest rates can play a role. During periods of rapid capacity growth, like the nuclear power plant construction of the 1970's and 1980's, or the venture into unregulated businesses most recently seen in the late 1990's, utilities have funded projects with debt, increasing their interest costs. Currently, the utility industries--electric, gas, and telecommunications--are implementing back-to-basics strategies, including a return to core competencies, improved balance sheets, less debt, and more cash being returned to shareholders.

During periods of generally high interest rates, the yields on other asset types can rise high enough to present an attractive risk adjusted alternative to utility stocks for some investors. Utilities and REITs are the highest yielding sectors of the stock market, and the bulwark of your Fund. Your Fund managers believe that choosing investments based on company management's ability to maintain and grow earnings and dividends is the best way to meet the Fund's current income objective and protect shareholder value.

Closed-end mutual funds, including your Fund, benefit from the use of leverage--the ability to borrow money at relatively low short-term interest rates and invest in longer-term and higher yielding securities. Leverage therefore facilitates higher shareholder dividends. The future course of short and long-term interest rates will determine the level of advantage the Fund is able to derive from that strategy. During every period of Fed tightening since the 1970's, long-term rates have risen whenever the Fed has raised short-term rates. We anticipate that over the coming months all rates will rise, providing first a hurdle and then an opportunity to invest at higher yields.

Board of Directors Meeting: At the regular July 2004 Board of Directors' meeting, the Board declared the following monthly dividends:

Cents Per Share	Record Date	Payable Date
-----	-----	-----
6.5.....	August 31	September 10
6.5.....	September 30	October 12
6.5.....	October 29	November 10

The determination of the character of all Fund distributions (specifying which portion is ordinary income, qualifying dividend income, short or long term capital gains, or return of capital) is made each year-end and is reported to shareholders on Form 1099-DIV, which is mailed every year in late January.

At the February 2004 Board Meeting, the Board reviewed the Fund's dividend policy and reaffirmed the current 6.5 cents per share per month distribution rate. Interest rates are at or near 40-year lows and utility common stock dividends are well below their long-term average. Therefore, in 2004, the Fund has made increased use of realized gains to supplement its investment income and has reduced its use of short-term trading strategies designed to capture dividend income. Until the Fund utilizes all of its tax loss carryforwards, distributions to shareholders derived from realized gains will be treated as ordinary income for tax purposes. In addition, the reduced use of short-term trading strategies by the Fund will lower the Fund's portfolio turnover rate and transaction costs and, after the Fund utilizes all of its tax loss carryforwards, will potentially increase the portion of the Fund's distributions to shareholders that will be taxable at the lower income tax rate applicable to qualifying dividends. In the future, in order to maintain the Fund's dividend rate, in the absence of increases in the yields available on

Fund investments and/or realizable gains on Fund investments, the Fund's dividend distributions may include a portion of non-taxable return of capital.

Automatic Dividend Reinvestment Plan and Direct Deposit Service--The Fund has a dividend reinvestment plan available as a benefit to all registered shareholders. As long as the market price of the common stock of the Fund exceeds or is equal to the net asset value per share, new shares for the dividend reinvestment program are issued at the greater of either 95% of the market price or net asset value. If the market price per share of common stock is below the net asset value per share, shares are purchased in the open market at prevailing market prices, plus any brokerage commissions paid by The Bank of New York.

Those shareholders whose shares are held for them by a brokerage house or nominee in "street-name" may not participate in the Fund's automatic dividend reinvestment plan. For such shareholders desiring automatic dividend reinvestment, we suggest you contact your broker or other nominee.

As an added service, without cost to the shareholder, the Fund offers direct deposit service through electronic funds transfer to all registered shareholders currently receiving a monthly dividend check. This service is offered through The Bank of New York. For more information and/or an authorization form on automatic dividend reinvestment or direct deposit, please contact The Bank of New York (1-877-381-2537 or <http://stock.bankofny.com>).

(1) SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES:

DNP SELECT INCOME FUND INC. (the "Fund") was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland on November 26, 1986. The Fund commenced operations on January 21, 1987, as a closed-end diversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The primary investment objectives of the Fund are current income and long-term growth of income. Capital appreciation is a secondary objective.

The following are the significant accounting policies of the Fund:

(a) The market values for securities are determined as follows: Equity securities traded on a national securities exchange or traded over-the-counter and quoted on the NASDAQ System are valued at last sales prices. Fixed income securities and any other securities for which it is determined that market prices are unavailable or inappropriate are valued at a fair value using a procedure determined in good faith by the Board of Directors which includes the use of a pricing service. Each money market instrument having a maturity of 60 days or less is valued on an amortized cost basis, which approximates market value.

(b) Repurchase agreements are fully collateralized by U.S. Treasury, U.S. Government Agency and other investment grade securities. All collateral is held by an independent third-party custodian bank on behalf of the Fund until maturity of the repurchase agreement. Provisions of the agreement provide that the market value of the collateral plus accrued interest on the collateral is greater than or equal to the repurchase price plus accrued interest at all times. In the event of a default or bankruptcy by the other party to the agreements, the Fund maintains the right to sell the underlying collateral securities at market value; however realization and/or retention of the collateral may be subject to legal proceedings.

(c) No provision is made for Federal income taxes since the Fund has elected to be taxed as a "regulated investment company" and has made such distributions to its shareholders deemed necessary to be relieved of all Federal income taxes under provisions of current Federal tax law. The Fund intends to utilize provisions of Federal income tax laws which allow a realized capital loss to be carried forward for eight years following the year of loss and offset such losses against any future realized gains. At December 31, 2003, the Fund had tax capital loss carry forwards of $387,291,560 of which $49,518,674 will expire in 2007; $126,699,370 will expire in 2010 and $211,073,516 will expire in 2011.

At December 31, 2003, on a tax basis, the Fund had undistributed net investment income of $6,008,643; and based on a $2,712,873,413 tax cost of investments, gross unrealized appreciation of $253,248,708 and unrealized depreciation of $92,979,901. The difference between the book basis and tax basis of distributable earnings are primarily a result of tax deferral of wash sale losses, the accretion of market discount and amortization of premiums.

(d) Security transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains or losses from sales of securities are determined on the specific identified cost basis. Dividend income is recognized on the ex-dividend date. Interest income and expense are recognized on the accrual basis. Discounts and premiums on securities are amortized over the lives of the respective securities for book purposes. Discounts and premiums are not amortized for tax purposes.

DNP SELECT INCOME FUND INC.
 (UNAUDITED)
 June 30, 2004

(e) The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(2) MANAGEMENT ARRANGEMENTS:

The Fund has engaged Duff & Phelps Investment Management Co. (the "Adviser") to provide professional investment management services for the Fund and has engaged J. J. B. Hilliard, W. L. Lyons, Inc. (the "Administrator") to provide administrative and management services for the Fund. The Adviser receives a quarterly fee at an annual rate of .60% of the average weekly net assets of the Fund up to $1.5 billion and .50% of average weekly net assets in excess thereof. The Administrator receives a quarterly fee at annual rates of .25% of average weekly net assets up to $100 million, .20% of average weekly net assets from $100 million to $1 billion, and .10% of average weekly net assets over $1 billion. For purposes of the foregoing calculations, "average weekly net assets" is defined as the sum of (i) the aggregate net asset value of the Fund's common stock (ii) the aggregate liquidation preference of the Fund's preferred stock and (iii) the aggregate proceeds to the Fund of commercial paper issued by the Fund. Directors of the Fund not affiliated with the Adviser receive a fee of $25,000 per year plus $2,000 per board meeting, plus $1,500 per committee meeting attended. Committee Chairmen receive an additional fee of $5,000 per year. Total fees paid to directors for the six months ended June 30, 2004 were $205,977.

(3) DIVIDENDS:

The Board of Directors has authorized the following distributions to common stockholders from investment income in 2004:

Record Date	Payable Date	Dividend Per Share	Record Date	Payable Date	Dividend Per Share
-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	-----
01-30-04	02-10-04	$.065	04-30-04	05-10-04	$.065
02-27-04	03-10-04	.065	05-28-04	06-10-04	.065
03-31-04	04-12-04	.065	06-30-04	07-12-04	.065

The tax basis for all distributions is determined after year end and may include qualifying and non-qualifying ordinary income, short or long term capital gains or return of capital.

(4) CAPITAL STOCK TRANSACTIONS:

The Fund may purchase shares of its own stock in open market or private transactions, from time to time and in such amounts and at such prices (not exceeding $100,000 plus accumulated and unpaid dividends in the case of the Fund's remarketed preferred stock and less than net asset value in the case of the Fund's common stock) as management may deem advisable. Since any such purchases of the Fund's common stock would be made at prices below net asset value, they would increase the net asset value per share of the remaining shares of common stock outstanding. The Fund has not purchased any shares of its common stock.

(5) REMARKETED PREFERRED STOCK:

In 1988, the Fund issued 5,000 shares of Remarketed Preferred Stock ("RP") in five series of 1,000 shares each at a public offering price of $100,000 per share. The underwriting discount and other expenses incurred in connection with the issuance of the RP were recorded as a reduction of paid-in surplus on common stock. Dividends on the RP are cumulative at a rate which was initially established for each series at its offering. Since the initial offering of each series, the dividend rate on each series has been reset every 49 days by a remarketing process. Dividend rates ranged from 1.04% to 1.65% during the six months ended June 30, 2004.

The RP is redeemable at the option of the Fund on any dividend payment date at a redemption price equal to $100,000 per share, plus accumulated and unpaid dividends. (1) Upon the adoption of FAS 150 in 2003, dividends on preferred stock are included in interest expense and are part of net investment income. Absent this change in accounting, per share net investment income and dividends on preferred stock would have been $0.30 and $0.02, respectively for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and $0.78 and $0.03, respectively in 2003. The ratios of expenses and net investment income to average net assets applicable to common stock would have been 1.44% and 6.11%, annualized, respectively for the six months ended June 30, 2004 and 1.51% and 10.25%, respectively for 2003.

(2) In 2004, the Fund has reduced its use of short-term trading strategies

designed to capture dividend income and has made increased use of realized gains to supplement its investment income. Until the Fund utilizes all of its tax loss carryforwards, distributions to shareholders derived from such realized gains will be treated as ordinary income for tax purposes. In addition, the reduced use of short-term trading strategies has reduced the Fund's portfolio turnover rate.
