Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers.

Effective December 31, 2009, P. Steven Ainsley, Publisher, The Boston Globe, retired.

In connection with Mr. Ainsley's retirement, he and The New York Times Company (the "Company") have entered into a Separation Agreement and General Release (the "Separation Agreement"), which memorializes the terms of payments and other benefits to be provided to Mr. Ainsley pursuant to existing arrangements and as agreed by the Company in connection with his retirement.

Pursuant to the Separation Agreement, the Company will provide Mr. Ainsley upon his retirement: (i) payments in the gross amount of $505,000.00; (ii) continued group health plan coverage for up to one year; (iii) continued financial planning counseling, as arranged by the Company for executives, for one year, and (iv) reimbursement of any nondeductible home loan interest expense incurred in 2009, grossed up for tax purposes, consistent with existing reimbursement practices initiated in connection with Mr. Ainsley's relocation from Tampa to Boston in 2006.

Mr. Ainsley is a participant in The New York Times Company Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan ("SERP"), a non-qualified defined benefit plan that provides enhanced retirement benefits to certain executives. The SERP Committee has consented to his early retirement, and he is therefore eligible to receive SERP benefits, pursuant to its terms.

In connection with his retirement, Mr. Ainsley will receive a prorated portion of any long-term performance awards made pursuant to performance cycles currently in effect, as, if and when such long-term performance awards are paid out to other plan participants. Payments will be based on the portion of the cycle elapsed through December 31, 2009. In addition, Mr. Ainsley's unvested restricted stock units and stock options will vest.

The Separation Agreement also contains Mr. Ainsley's and the Company's mutual release of each other from all claims.

The foregoing description of the Separation Agreement does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Separation Agreement, which is filed as Exhibit 10.1 hereto and incorporated herein by reference.
