ITEM 7.01 REGULATION FD DISCLOSURE

On August 27, 2015, Daryl G. Byrd, President and Chief Executive Officer of IBERIABANK Corporation (the “Registrant”), participated in a broadcasted interview on CNBC. During the interview Mr. Byrd was asked “How will the overall value of your earnings change with a 25 to 100 basis point rate hike?” The question did not specify the measure of earnings performance or the time period over which the earnings impact was to be measured. Mr. Byrd responded to the question that he anticipates a “five to twenty-something basis point” impact as a result of the increase in interest rates. As clarification, the Registrant currently anticipates each 25-basis point increase in short-term interest rates would increase fully-diluted after-tax earnings per share by approximately $0.07 per share for the immediate quarter, with diminishing impact over time. Therefore, an immediate increase in the range of 25 to 100 basis points in short-term interest rates is currently estimated to result in an increase in fully-diluted after-tax earnings per share in the range of $0.07 per share to $0.28 per share for the immediate quarter, with diminishing impact over time.
