CRYPTOLOGIC ACHIEVES CONTINUED GROWTH IN FOURTH QUARTER*Casino games power growth in revenue & earnings, capping a year of key strategic moves*

March 18, 2008 (Dublin, IRELAND) CryptoLogic Limited, a world leader in Internet gaming software, today reported continued growth in revenue and earnings for the fourth quarter ending December 31, 2007, ahead of the company's guidance and market expectations.

CryptoLogic posted fourth-quarter revenue of $20.4 million and net earnings of $5.0 million, or $0.36 per fully diluted share, before an adjustment to reflect a minority interest in the company. After this adjustment, the company's net earnings were $4.3 million. CryptoLogic's guidance, announced in November 2007, forecast revenue up to $18.5 million and net income between $2 million and $3 million for the quarter.

In 2007, CryptoLogic demonstrated the resilience of its business and the strength of its strategy, said Brian Hadfield, CryptoLogic's President and CEO. CryptoLogic led the industry in gaming innovation, broadened and deepened its customer relationships, grew both its core and emerging businesses, and made strategic investments in Europe and Asia. CryptoLogic enters 2008 with a new wave of momentum and a new world of opportunity.

On a sequential basis, CryptoLogic grew its quarterly revenue and earnings before income tax and minority interest by 16% and 82%, respectively, over the third quarter of 2007. The company attributes this growth, in part, to the successful release of its newest line-up of casino games in October, and to the launch of the much-anticipated Spider-Man and Fantastic Four slot games in December. The company also benefited from a release of a contingency of $2.0 million. Excluding the impact of this benefit, quarterly revenue was 4.8% higher than in the third quarter.

CryptoLogic continues to have a strong balance sheet, ending the year with $77.5 million in cash and cash equivalents even after making four strategic investments in Europe and Asia over the course of 2007. This provides the company with the financial resources and flexibility for expansion in key markets, including the opportunity for earnings-enhancing corporate transactions.

Note: In light of the significant industry-wide impact of the U.S. prohibition of Internet gaming in October 2006, management believes that sequential quarter-over-quarter growth and balance sheet strength are more meaningful indicators of relative performance than full-year comparisons between 2006 and 2007.

Operational highlights:

Leadership through innovation

CryptoLogic released Bonus Pack 12, a new line-up of adventure-themed casino games including Rajah's Rubies, Double Panda, Native Treasure and Computer Rage.

The company launched its latest eagerly-anticipated slot games featuring the wildly popular Marvel Super Heroes, Spider-Man and the Fantastic Four.

Q4 capped a year in which CryptoLogic released 15 new games.

Broader, deeper customer relationships

CryptoLogic continued to see steady revenue growth from new licensees acquired throughout 2007, with particularly strong growth in its casino business. In addition to its longstanding blue-chip licensee base, the company has built strong new relationships with leading gaming and entertainment brands such as Marvel and World Poker Tour. World Poker Tour recently announced an expansion and extension of its relationship with CryptoLogic to at least mid-2011.

In 2007, CryptoLogic began work for four new licensees and launched seven new casino and poker sites.

New acquisitions & investments

CryptoLogic acquired an initial stake in Mikoishi (Asia Pacific) Pte Ltd (Mikoishi), one of Asia's best-known game development and design companies. This move gives CryptoLogic an opportunity to benefit from the size and rapid growth of the Asian mobile phone market. CryptoLogic may increase its stake in Mikoishi in the future.

Q4 continued a year of significant investments that also included the acquisitions of Parbet.com, a popular Scandinavian poker brand, and Casino.co.uk, a popular gaming portal; and the purchase of a major financial interest in 568 Network Inc., a developer and distributor of online casual games to the Chinese market.

Industry honours

Subsequent to the year-end, CryptoLogic earned Gambling Online Magazine Top Casino Software Award for the third consecutive year. Because the award is based on the votes of players from all over the world, it is widely considered one of the industry's highest honours.

CryptoLogic's subsidiary, WagerLogic Limited, won top honours for contact-centre and customer-service excellence in the Europe, Middle East and Africa Region of the World Contact Center Awards.

Corporate initiatives

CryptoLogic implemented a successful program of cost-control measures following the company's reorganization in Ireland.

In February 2008, CryptoLogic hired Brian Hadfield as its new President and CEO. Mr. Hadfield, who joined CryptoLogic as a director last year, is a senior technology executive who has managed major international businesses, including Unisys Limited's operations in the U.K., Middle East, Africa and India.

The company declared a quarterly cash dividend of $0.12 per share on March 17, 2008.

Financial Performance

Over the course of 2007, CryptoLogic steadily increased its revenue and net earnings as the company continued to make progress on restoring its profitability to historic levels.

Total revenue: CryptoLogic increased its revenue from $17.5 million in the third quarter to $20.4 million in the fourth quarter of 2007. The company benefited from strong casino revenue as well as $2.0 million due to the release of contingency funds. CryptoLogic attributed its better-than-anticipated casino revenue to the popularity of its newest games.

Earnings and Earnings per Diluted Share: The company achieved earnings before minority interest for the quarter of $5.0 million ($0.36 per fully diluted share). There were some one-time items in the quarter, including a tax recovery of $0.7 million, and a write-off of $1.75 million in program costs. Without the tax recovery, the company enjoyed a profit of $4.3 million ($0.31 per fully diluted share). This increase is attributable to stronger gaming revenue and continued cost control.

Minority interest represents the earnings that accrue to the shareholders of CryptoLogic Exchange Corporation (TSX: CXY). CXY was established during the reorganization announced in Q2 to benefit taxable Canadian residents. The CXY shares are, as nearly as practicable, the economic equivalent of CryptoLogic Limited shares. Earnings per share, as prescribed by GAAP, are calculated such that it is equal for both groups of shareholders.

Balance Sheet and Cash Flow: CryptoLogic continues to have a strong balance sheet, which enabled strategic acquisitions and investments to continue in the fourth quarter. CryptoLogic ended the quarter with $77.5 million in net cash (comprising cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, and security deposits), or $5.57 per diluted share. This is a reduction of $7.9 million from the third quarter largely due to the acquisition of a significant stake in Mikoishi Studios of Singapore. The company continues to be debt-free.

CryptoLogic's working capital at December 31, 2007 was $68.2 million or $4.90 per diluted share (September 30, 2007: $73.7 million or $5.31 per diluted share). Cash flow used by operating activities was essentially neutral in the fourth quarter.

Outlook

CryptoLogic's reputation, long track record of profitability and strong financial position continue to give the company the flexibility and opportunity to broaden its relationships with major gaming and entertainment brands, sign new licensees, develop and release highly successful new games, and make strategic acquisitions in promising companies in both Europe and Asia.

In 2008, CryptoLogic expects continued growth from several strategies:

Innovation: CryptoLogic will continue to grow its core businesses by releasing more innovative casino games and using tournaments and other innovations to attract loyalty and liquidity to its licensees' shared poker room.

Expansion: The company continues to target new licensees, and is in active discussions with various candidates. Thanks to excellent leverage from CryptoLogic's robust, scalable technology platform, substantially all incremental revenue goes directly to the bottom line.

Edgar Filing: CRYPTOLOGIC LTD - Form 6-K

Diversification: The company will continue its diversification into Asia, and into mobile gaming and other promising segments of the Internet gaming market.

Acquisition: CryptoLogic expects its recent investments and acquisitions to be accretive to earnings in 2008. With a strong balance sheet, the company continues to be proactive in pursuing opportunities that can enhance earnings for shareholders.

In line with market trends and the practices of European public companies, the company does not intend to provide regular quarterly guidance on anticipated revenue and earnings.

CRYPTOLOGIC LIMITED

Notes to Unaudited Consolidated Financial Statements

(In thousands of U.S. dollars, except per share disclosure and where indicated otherwise)

For the three and twelve months ended December 31, 2007

1. Basis of Presentation and Reorganization:

These interim unaudited consolidated financial statements do not contain all annual disclosures required by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and, as such, should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements including the notes thereto for the year ended December 31, 2006, as set out in the 2006 Annual Report.

Pursuant to a business reorganization implemented by way of a Superior Court of Ontario, Canada court approved plan of arrangement (the Arrangement) and approved by the shareholders on May 24, 2007, CryptoLogic Limited (the Company) acquired control over all of the issued and outstanding common shares of CryptoLogic Inc., an Ontario company, which through the Arrangement became an indirect subsidiary of CryptoLogic Limited. As part of the Arrangement, the Company issued either an equivalent amount of CryptoLogic Limited Common Shares or, in the case of taxable Canadian residents, exchangeable shares of CryptoLogic Exchange Corporation (CEC), an indirect subsidiary of the Company. The CEC shares are, as nearly as practicable, the economic equivalent of CryptoLogic Limited Shares. These CEC shares participate equally in voting and dividends with the shareholders of the Company. No additional shares of CEC will be issued after June 1, 2007.

For accounting purposes, the Arrangement has been accounted for using the continuity of interest method, which recognizes the Company as the successor entity to CryptoLogic Inc. Accordingly, these consolidated financial statements reflect the financial position, results of operations and cash flows as if the Company has always carried on the business formerly carried on by CryptoLogic Inc. and its subsidiaries, with all assets and liabilities recorded at the carrying values of CryptoLogic Inc. The interest held by CEC shareholders has been presented as a minority interest in these consolidated financial statements, as required under GAAP.

2. Security deposits and restricted cash:

At December 31, 2007, the Company was required to maintain a deposit of $20 million to support a letter of credit to the Lottery Gaming Authority of Malta to support user funds on deposit. In February 2008, this requirement was reduced to $5 million. See Note 9 for further information. Security deposits are amounts held by the Company's bank as collateral provided to foreign banks and payment processors that process deposit and credit card transactions.

3. Investments

In November 2007, the Company acquired a 12.7% minority interest in Mikoishi (Asia Pacific) Pte Ltd (Mikoishi) for $4.258. Mikoishi is a developer and marketer of gaming product for the mobile computing markets and is located in Singapore. In consideration for the investment, the Company received preference shares with voting rights, redeemable into common shares. The Company has the option to increase its ownership position. This investment has been recorded using the cost method and has classified it as an available for sale security.

4. Stock based compensation

The Company expenses the cost of all stock option grants issued on or after January 1, 2003, determined using the fair value method. The estimated fair value of the options is recorded over the periods that the options vest. The fair value of options granted were estimated using the Black-Scholes option pricing model with the following weighted average assumptions:

	2007	2006
Dividend yield	1.90%	2.00%
Risk-free interest rate	4.07%	4.25%
Expected volatility	52.00%	55.00%
Expected life of options in years	3	5

CRYPTOLOGIC LIMITED

For the three and twelve months ended December 31, 2007

5. Earnings per common share:

Basic and diluted earnings per common share were calculated using the weighted average number of common shares and the weighted average number of common shares on a diluted basis.

Earnings are calculated using the two-class method, whereby, common shares of the Company and the fully participating convertible common shares of the CEC are used to determine the proportion of earnings attributable to the common shares of the Company.

The earnings attributable to the common shares in calculating the basic and diluted earnings per share are as follows:

	Twelve months ended
	2007	2006
Earnings attributable to common shares	$ 5,528	$ 24,812
Earnings attributable to CEC shares	971	-
Earnings before minority interest	$ 6,499	$ 24,812

The denominator used in calculating basic and diluted earnings per common share is calculated as follows:

	Twelve months ended
	2007	2006
Weighted average number of common shares outstanding - basic	13,223	13,558
Add impact of CEC issued during reorganization	668
Total weighted average number of shares outstanding - basic	13,891	13,731
Add dilutive options	16	173
Total weighted average number of shares outstanding - diluted	13,907	13,731
Earnings per common share:
Basic	$ 0.47	$ 1.83
Diluted	$ 0.47	$ 1.81

6. Minority Interest

As discussed in Note 1, as part of the Arrangement, taxable Canadian residents were received exchangeable shares of CEC, an indirect subsidiary of the Company. The CEC shares are, as nearly as practicable, the economic equivalent of CryptoLogic Limited Shares. As a result of the Arrangement, a total of 12.5 million and 1.3 million shares of the Company and CEC were issued, respectively.

The shares issued by CEC are considered a non-controlling interest of the Company for accounting purposes and consequently, a proportional amount of the Company's shareholders' equity is recorded separately as minority interest on the consolidated balance sheet. Accordingly, on June 1, 2007, minority interest of $10,800 was recorded in the accompanying consolidated balance sheet.

A similar proportional share of the net earnings associated with subsidiaries directly or indirectly owned by CEC is included in the accompanying consolidated statements of earnings as minority interest. Since June 1, 2007, a total of 218 CEC shares have been exchanged for the Company's shares.

For accounting purposes, when CEC shares are exchanged, the proportional share of the minority interest on the balance sheet is reduced and share capital increased based on the pro-rata number of shares exchanged to total CEC shares outstanding.
