ITEM 8.01 Other Events

Generally, our charter prohibits any person from owning, directly or indirectly, in excess of 9.9% of the outstanding shares of our capital stock. If a person acquires shares in excess of such limit, the shares are considered to be "Excess Shares." Pursuant to our charter a person that acquires Excess Shares is not treated as the owner of such shares, but rather such person is deemed to hold the Excess Shares as agent on behalf of, and in trust for the exclusive benefit of, the person(s) to whom the Excess Shares may later be transferred. Moreover, to the extent permitted by law, the acquisition of Excess Shares shall be void. While holding Excess Shares, such person has no right to receive dividends or other distributions on the Excess Shares or any right to vote the Excess Shares. In addition, our board of directors has the power to either direct the holder to sell the Excess Shares or redeem the Excess Shares or, to the extent permitted by law. Our board of directors has authority to waive the 9.9% ownership limitation if it determines that a person's ownership in excess of such limitation does not jeopardize our status as a REIT for federal income tax purposes.

Cohen & Steers Capital Management, Inc. ("Cohen & Steers") is an investment advisory firm that we believe "beneficially owns" approximately 1,897,500 common shares, representing 9% of our common shares, and 1,363,000 (non-voting) preferred shares, representing 19% of our preferred shares. The total represents 11% of our outstanding capital stock, making Cohen & Steers the largest beneficial owner of our outstanding capital stock. Under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Cohen & Steers beneficially owns our capital stock because it has the power to vote and/or the power to dispose of such shares. However, the economic owners of such shares are registered investment companies, pension trusts, individuals or other entities for whom Cohen & Steers serves as an investment adviser.

On November 16, 2004, our board of directors authorized us to grant a limited waiver of the ownership limit to permit Cohen & Steers and its clients to beneficially own up to fifteen percent (15%) of our outstanding capital stock. On January 7, 2005, we granted the waiver to Cohen & Steers.
