Item 8.01 Other Events.

As Dell Inc. (Dell) has previously reported in its quarterly and annual filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC), in August 2005 the SEC staff commenced an inquiry into certain of Dell s accounting and financial reporting matters for periods beginning 2001. Dell has learned that, in connection with the resulting SEC investigation, several former employees of Dell have been contacted by the SEC staff and been provided with Wells Notices. A Wells Notice is an indication that the SEC staff has made a preliminary decision to recommend that the SEC commence a civil or administrative action against the recipient of the notice. It is possible that other individuals have received or will receive such notices.

Dell continues to cooperate with the ongoing SEC investigation. As Dell has previously reported, Dell and the SEC staff have had preliminary discussions about a potential settlement of the matter. Thus far, an agreement has not been reached. Dell believes that any resolution would likely include monetary penalties, which cannot be quantified at this time, and other relief within the SEC s authority. Dell s discussions with the SEC staff are ongoing, and no assurance can be given as to the ultimate outcome of this matter, including the terms and conditions of any settlement.
