Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On October 28, 2004, Noble Energy, Inc. (the Company) 364-day $300 million credit agreement expired (the old Facility), and the Company replaced the old Facility with a new $400 million unsecured five-year revolving credit facility (the new Facility). The new Facility has an option to increase the commitments to an aggregate $600 million. The new Facility was entered into among the Company, JPMorgan Chase Bank (JPMorgan), as administrative agent, Wachovia Bank, National Association (Wachovia), as syndication agent, Barclays Bank, PLC, Duetsche Bank AG New York Branch (Duetsche) and The Royal Bank of Scotland, PLC (RBS), as co-documentation agents, and certain other commercial lending institutions named therein. The Company drew down $85 million under the new Facility on October 28, 2004 to repay the outstanding $85 million under the old Facility.

The new Facility is available for general corporate purposes. Interest rates are based upon a Eurodollar rate plus a range of 30 basis points to 112.5 basis points depending upon the percentage of utilization and credit rating. The new Facility has facility fees that range from 10 basis points to 25 basis depending upon the credit rating.

The new Facility contains customary representations and warranties and affirmative and negative covenants, including, but not limited to, the following financial covenants: (a) the ratio of Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Exploration Expense to interest expense for any consecutive period of four fiscal quarters ending on the last day of a fiscal quarter may not be less than 4.0 to 1.0; and (b) the total debt to capitalization ratio, expressed as a percentage, may not exceed 60 percent at any time. A violation of these covenants could result in a default under the new Facility which would permit the participating banks to restrict the Company's ability to access the new Facility and require the immediate repayment of any outstanding advances under the new Facility.

Certain lenders that were (1) a party to the old Facility or (2) a party to the new Facility have in the past performed, and may in the future from time to time perform, investment banking, financial advisory, lending or commercial banking services for the Company and its subsidiaries, for which they have received, and may in the future receive, customary compensation and reimbursement of expenses.

The description set forth herein of the terms and conditions of the new Facility is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of such agreement, which is filed with this report as Exhibit 10.1.
