PART III -- NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

As previously disclosed in current reports on Form 8-K furnished to the Securities and Exchange Commission on October 27, 2004, November 10, 2004, January 13, 2005 and March 4, 2005, Terex Corporation ("Terex" or the "Company") has commenced a detailed examination of its intercompany transactions in an effort to reconcile imbalances in certain of the Company's accounts. The Company has also previously disclosed that it has determined that a material weakness (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended) existed in the Company's internal controls over financial reporting as they relate to the recording of certain intercompany transactions, which contributed to these imbalances. Based on the results of its review, the Company has concluded that the financial statements of Terex for the years ended December 31, 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 need to be restated to correct certain errors. Although significant progress has been made in identifying and correcting the issues giving rise to the account imbalances and other items, at this time the Company's review activities are still ongoing. In addition, the Company has not yet completed its assessment of effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2004. The Company is currently working to complete its internal accounting review and the audit of its financial statements as soon as possible.
