Buenos Aires, December 21, 2007 Petrobras Energía Participaciones S.A. (Buenos Aires: PBE, NYSE: PZE) announces that its controlled company, Petrobras Energía S.A. (Buenos Aires: PESA), has acquired from Energy Development Corporation (Argentina), Inc., Argentine Branch, a 13.7196% working interest in El Tordillo and La Tapera - Puesto Quiroga assets in the amount of US$117.5 million. The transaction resulted from the exercise by Petrobras Energía S.A. of the right of first refusal provided for under the pertinent UTE agreements, for the acquisition of the interest assigned.

Prior to this acquisition, Petrobras Energía S.A. already had an interest in these assets which, after consummation of the transaction, increased to 35.67%.

The assets are located at Golfo San Jorge Basin, Province of Chubut, Argentina, and are operated by Tecpetrol S.A.. El Tordillo concession produces Escalante crude oil, while La Tapera - Puesto Quiroga concession, covering a total area of 336 km², is under the exploratory stage. Production for the interest acquired in El Tordillo area is estimated at approximately 3,500 barrels per day.

This acquisition, which is in line with the Company's strategic goal to increase hydrocarbon reserves and production, will allow to increase the Company's own crude oil availability, thus enabling integration in the crude oil chain.
