NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(UNAUDITED)

March 31, 2008

Note 1 Basis for Presentation

The accompanying unaudited consolidated condensed financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Article 10 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all information and footnotes required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for complete financial statements.

In the opinion of management, all adjustments considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Operating results for the three and six month periods ended March 31, 2008 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending September 30, 2008. For further information, refer to the consolidated financial statements and footnotes thereto included in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended September 30, 2007.

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with U. S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 Balance Sheet Details

The components of accounts receivable are as follows (in thousands):

Edgar Filing: CUBIC CORP /DE/ - Form 10-Q

Current accounts receivable	$	278,154	$	305,672
-----------------------------	----	---------	----	---------

The amount classified as not currently due is an estimate of the amount of long-term contract accounts receivable that will not be collected within one year from March 31, 2008 under transportation systems contracts in the U.S., Australia and the U.K. and a defense contract in Canada. The non-current balance at September 30, 2007 represented non-current amounts due from the same contracts.

Total inventories	$ 34,940	$ 27,342

At March 31, 2008, work in process and inventoried costs under long-term contracts includes approximately $2.9 million in costs incurred in advance of contract award or outside the scope of work on several contracts in the defense segment. Such costs were $8.4 million as of September 30, 2007. The company has also reclassified $5.2 million from Work in Process and Inventoried Costs Under Long-term Contracts to Other Assets (non-current) as of March 31, 2008. The company has submitted a claim to the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals related to these costs and a trial date is set for January 2009. Refer to legal proceedings note for additional information. Management believes it is probable that these costs, plus appropriate profit margin, will be recovered under contract change orders or upon the award of new contracts.

Note 8 New Accounting Pronouncements

Edgar Filing: CUBIC CORP /DE/ - Form 10-Q

Effective October 1, 2007, the Company adopted FASB Interpretation No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes (FIN 48). FIN 48 prescribes a more-likely-than-not threshold for financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. This interpretation also provides guidance in de-recognition of income tax assets and liabilities, classification of current and deferred income tax assets and liabilities, accounting for interest and penalties associated with tax positions, accounting for income taxes in interim periods and income tax disclosures. The cumulative effects of applying this interpretation were to increase non-current tax liabilities by $5.0 million, decrease retained earnings by $2.5 million and increase net deferred income tax assets by $2.5 million as of October 1, 2007.

The liability for unrecognized tax benefits, exclusive of interest, was $10.0 million at October 1, 2007, of which $3.9 million, if recognized, would affect the effective tax rate. In the quarter ended March 31, 2008, we recognized a $0.4 million tax benefit relating to the completion of an audit in a foreign jurisdiction. In conjunction with the adoption of FIN 48, we have classified uncertain tax positions as noncurrent income tax liabilities unless expected to be paid in one year.

The Company continues to report income tax-related interest income or expense and penalties in income tax expense in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income. As of October 1, 2007 and March 31, 2008, the total amount of accrued income tax-related interest and penalties included in the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets was $0.8 million and $1.0 million, respectively.

The Company is subject to examination in the U.S. federal tax jurisdiction for the 2004 - 2007 tax years. The Company is also subject to examination in the U.K. for the 2003 - 2007 tax years. In addition, the Company is subject to examination in various state and foreign jurisdictions for the 2004 - 2007 tax years, none of which were individually material. The Company believes appropriate provisions for all outstanding issues have been made for all jurisdictions and all open years.

Approximately $1.4 million of unrecognized tax benefits relate to items that are affected by expiring statute of limitations within the next 12 months. Of this amount, approximately $1.0 million, if recognized, would affect the effective tax rate.

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, Fair Value Measurements. SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework and gives guidance regarding the methods used for measuring fair value, and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007 and interim periods within those fiscal years. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of SFAS 157 on its consolidated results of operations and financial position.

In February 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 159, The Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities Including an Amendment of FASB Statement No. 115, which is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. This statement permits an entity to choose to measure many financial instruments and certain other items at fair value at specified election dates.

Note 8 New Accounting Pronouncements - Continued

Subsequent unrealized gains and losses on items for which the fair value option has been elected will be reported in earnings. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact of SFAS 159 on its consolidated results of operations and financial position.

In December 2007, the FASB issued SFAS No. 141(R), Business Combinations (revised 2007), which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008. This revised statement is intended to simplify existing guidance and converge rulemaking under U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) with international accounting rules. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact of SFAS 141(R) on its consolidated results of operations and financial position.

In December 2007, the FASB also issued SFAS No. 160, Noncontrolling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements, which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2008. This statement requires all entities to report noncontrolling (minority) interests in subsidiaries as equity in the consolidated financial statements. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact of SFAS 160 on its consolidated results of operations and financial position.

In March 2008, the FASB issued SFAS No. 161, Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, which is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2008. This statement asks entities to provide qualitative disclosures about the objectives and strategies for using derivatives. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact of SFAS 161 on its consolidated results of operations and financial position.

Note 9 Legal Proceedings

In May 2007 the Company filed a claim with the U.S. Navy for $6.2 million arising out of allegedly defective specifications, the late delivery of government-furnished equipment and the Navy's attempt to unilaterally impose additional contract requirements in connection with a contract whose initial award value was $31.8 million. In February 2008, the Navy asserted a counter-claim seeking a $4.1 million reduction in the contract price because it allegedly relaxed certain specifications, provided more government-furnished equipment than was required and had to revise certain equipment and manuals furnished by the Company. These claims are now on appeal before the U.S. Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals. Trial is scheduled to occur in January, 2009. Management believes its claims are valid and it has justified defenses to the Navy's counter-claim. The exact amount of monetary recovery cannot be quantified at this time. However, since management believes it has a legally justified claim and will prevail with a monetary award, the Company inventoried the additional costs it has incurred to date totaling $5.2 million in respect of the amount it has claimed. No liability for the Navy's claim has been recorded because management believes there is no merit to that claim and that the Company will prevail. Document review is at an early stage, no depositions have been taken and no reports of expert witnesses have been produced.

CUBIC CORPORATION

ITEM 2 - MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

March 31, 2008

Our two primary businesses are in the defense and transportation industries. These are high technology businesses that design, manufacture and integrate complex systems and provide essential services to meet the needs of various federal and regional government agencies in the U.S. and other nations around the world.

Our defense segment is a diversified supplier of constructive, live and virtual military training systems, services and communication systems and products to the U.S. Department of Defense, other government agencies and allied nations. We design instrumented range systems for fighter aircraft, armored vehicles and infantry force-on-force live training; weapons effects simulations; laser-based tactical engagement and virtual simulation systems; and precision gunnery solutions. Our services are focused on training mission support, computer simulation training, distributed interactive simulation, development of military training doctrine, force modernization services for NATO entrants and field operations and maintenance. Our communications products are aimed at intelligence, surveillance, and search and rescue markets.

Our transportation systems segment develops and delivers innovative fare collection systems for public transit authorities worldwide. We provide hardware, software and multi-agency, multimodal transportation integration technologies and services that allow the agencies to efficiently collect fares, manage their operations, reduce shrinkage and make using public transit a more convenient and attractive option for commuters.

Consolidated Overview

Sales for the quarter ended March 31, 2008 decreased 9% to $210.3 million compared to $230.0 million in the same quarter last year. Defense sales decreased 16% compared to last year, while transportation systems sales increased by 16%. Last year's second quarter included sales of $3.2 million from the corrugated box business we sold in the fourth quarter of 2007. Operating income decreased to $13.9 million in the quarter compared to $17.8 million in the second quarter last year, a decrease of 22%. Defense operating income decreased while transportation systems operating income increased. See the segment discussions following for further analysis of segment sales and operating income.

Sales decreased to $413.0 million for the first six months of the fiscal year compared to $433.0 million for the first six months of 2007, a decrease of 5%. 2007 sales included $6.9 million from the corrugated box business that we sold in the fourth quarter of 2007. Defense sales decreased 8% while transportation systems sales increased 9%. Operating income for the first six months of the fiscal year increased from $29.5 million in 2007 to $31.0 million this year. Transportation systems segment operating income increased $10.0 million compared to the first half of 2007 and defense segment operating income decreased $8.8 million. See the segment discussions following for further analysis of segment sales and operating income.

Net income for the second quarter of fiscal 2008 decreased to $9.6 million, or 36 cents per share, compared to $11.2 million, or 42 cents per share last year as a result of the decrease in operating income. For the first six months of the year, net income increased to $20.3 million, or 76 cents per share, from $19.5 million, or 73 cents per share last year. Net income for the first six months of this fiscal year was negatively impacted approximately $1.3 million by a higher effective income tax rate. See following discussion on effective tax rate.

Selling, general and administrative (SG&A) expenses increased in the second quarter this year compared to last year, increasing from $23.7 million in the second quarter last year to $24.1 million this year. For the first six months of the year SG&A expenses increased by 4%, from $46.9 million in 2007 to $48.9 million this year. As a percentage of sales, SG&A expenses increased from 10.8% to 11.8%. SG&A expenses increased in both segments due primarily to increased selling expenses incurred for new contract proposals. We also increased company funded research and development expenditures by $2.4 million in the first half of this year, primarily in the defense segment relating to advanced programs dealing with optical technologies.

Our projected effective tax rate for the remainder of fiscal 2008 is 39.0%. The projected effective rate for fiscal 2008 is higher than last year's first half effective rate of 35.1% due to the expiration of the U.S. Research and Experimentation credit as of December 31, 2007. The tax provision in the first half last year also benefitted by $0.5 million from the retroactive reinstatement of the U.S. Research and Experimentation credit in that period. In addition, the rate is higher this year because we are projecting higher earnings in the U.K. and are required to provide U.S. taxes on the earnings which we do not consider to be permanently reinvested as they may be repatriated in the form of dividends. As a result of the completion of an audit in a foreign jurisdiction during the second quarter, we were able to reduce our liability for unrecognized tax benefits by $0.4 million and recognize a tax benefit of that amount in the quarter. The effective rate for fiscal 2008 could be affected by, among other factors, the mix of business between the U.S. and foreign jurisdictions, our ability to take advantage of available tax credits and audits of our records by taxing authorities.

Defense segment sales in the second quarter decreased 16%, from $164.8 million last year to $138.2 million this year. Each of the three major business units experienced a decrease in sales for the quarter compared to last year. Operating income in the defense segment was also lower in the second quarter, decreasing to $2.8 million compared to $11.9 million in the second quarter of fiscal 2007 due largely to cost growth on development contracts. RSBU and MSBU operating income decreased from last year, while CEBU incurred a loss for the quarter.

For the first six months of the fiscal year defense sales decreased 8% compared to last year. MSBU sales were equal to last year while sales decreased from each the other two major divisions. Operating income for the first half was down 41% compared to last year, with each business unit experiencing a decrease from last year's first half.

Mission Support Services (MSBU)

MSBU sales decreased 6% to $75.7 million in the second quarter this year, compared to $80.9 million last year. Education, training and exercise support activities for the U.S. Army decreased during the quarter due to a reduction in customer requirements compared to last year, resulting in lower sales. This decrease was partially offset by increased sales from Marine Corps contracts and a new contract supporting the U.S. Army's Quartermaster Center and School. For the first six months of the fiscal year sales were equal to last year. Higher sales from the new Army contract mentioned above and from the Marine Corp support services were offset by lower sales from two key Army support contracts in Korea and at Ft. Polk, LA due to a decrease in customer requirements.

MSBU operating income decreased 38% from $8.4 million in the second quarter last year to $5.2 million in the second quarter this year. Lower sales volume and a change in the mix of contracts contributed to this decrease. Last year's second quarter had included several mature contracts that were experiencing healthy profit margins, while certain of these have been replaced this year by new or follow-on contracts with lower profit margins, such as the new U.S. Army Quartermaster Center and School contract. We consider this to be a temporary situation that will be resolved with increases in military training requirements and finalization of certain contract add-ons and follow-ons. For the first six months operating income was down 20% from $13.4 million last year to $10.7 million this year, for substantially the same reasons.

Readiness Systems (RSBU)

RSBU sales decreased from $67.0 million in the second quarter last year to $50.5 million this year, a decrease of 25%. Sales were lower by about $7.0 million from the air combat training system contract known as P5 and from an air combat training system in Australia that was completed in the first quarter. The P5 contract is in a transition from the development phase, where revenue is recognized on a percentage completion basis, to the production phase, where we will not realize the revenues for these orders until the product is delivered and the sales process is complete. This transition also contributed to an increase in inventories of $7.6 million in the first six months of the year. Partially offsetting these sales decreases was an increase in sales from the new Joint Strike Fighter (JSF) development contract. Sales were also lower from ground combat training system contracts in Canada and the Far East and from small arms training systems. In addition, problems encountered in system integration testing for a contract to develop the next generation laser-based tactical engagement system resulted in a delay in progress on this program and, therefore, lower sales.

For the first half of the fiscal year, RSBU sales were down 10%, from $126.0 million last year to $113.4 million this year. The decrease was from lower sales of ground combat training systems, small arms training systems and laser-based tactical engagement systems, as described above in the second quarter results. Sales of air combat training systems were up for the first six months of the year due to the new JSF contract mentioned above.

Readiness systems operating income decreased from $4.1 million in the second quarter last year to $0.5 million this year. Cost growth of $3.2 million resulting primarily from problems encountered in system integration testing of the tactical engagement system mentioned above was the primary reason for the decrease in operating income. We believe we have now found solutions to these issues, and that no significant further cost growth from this situation will occur. Lower sales from air combat training systems caused a decrease in operating income from that product line; however, this was more than offset by higher profit margins from small arms training systems and ground combat training systems in Canada and the Middle East. Operating income in the second quarter last year also had included $1.2 million from the close-out of an old ground combat training system contract completed in the mid-1990 s.

For the first six months of the fiscal year RSBU operating income decreased 26% from $8.1 million in 2007 to $6.0 million this year. This was caused by the cost growth in the development phase of the tactical engagement system contract mentioned above. Improved profit margins from small arms training systems and the ground combat training system in Canada partially offset the impact from this contract.

Communications and Electronics (CEBU)

Sales from CEBU were $8.8 million in the second quarter of 2008, down from $14.5 million in the same quarter last year, a 39% decrease. Sales decreased from contracts for the supply of data links for unmanned aerial vehicles in the U.S. and U. K. and from personnel locator systems. For the first six months of the fiscal year, sales from CEBU were down 40% in 2008 compared to 2007, from $29.3 million to $17.6 million. Sales were down from all three major product lines: data links, personnel locator systems and power amplifiers.

CEBU incurred an operating loss of $2.3 million for the second quarter this year compared to a break-even second quarter last year. Cost growth on three data link development contracts impacted profitability by $2.7 million during the quarter. Approximately $0.6 million of these costs related to a claim with the U.S. Navy as described in Note 9 to the financial statements, while most of the remainder resulted from ongoing problems with subcontractors. The company may be able to recover some of its increased costs from the subcontractors; however, the amount of any potential cost recovery cannot be determined at this time and therefore these costs have been expensed. Cost growth on one of the contracts resulted from problems in environmental testing which have now been solved. For the first half of the fiscal year, CEBU incurred an operating loss of $3.1 million in 2008 compared to operating income of $1.0 million last year. Cost growth totaling $4.0 million on the three data link development contracts mentioned above was the primary reason for the decrease, in addition to lower sales of power amplifiers.

Transportation Systems Segment

	Six Months Ended March 31,		Three Months Ended March 31,
	2008	2007	2008	2007
	(in millions)
Transportation Segment Sales	$ 128.6	$ 118.0	$ 72.1	$ 62.0
Transportation Segment Operating Income	$ 19.2	$ 9.2	$ 11.9	$ 6.9

Transportation segment sales increased from $62.0 million in the second quarter last year to $72.1 million this year, an increase of 16%. Sales increased primarily due to additional work from change orders on contracts in the U.K. and also due to system installation work on a contract in Australia. Significant progress was made on several system enhancement projects in the U.K. during the quarter, generating higher than usual sales. Sales from system installation contracts in North America were lower as several programs are nearing completion, however, this decrease was partially offset by higher sales of spare parts to U.S. customers. For the first half of the fiscal year, transportation systems sales increased 9% from $118.0 million in 2007 to $128.6 million this year for the reasons described above. A higher average exchange rate between the British Pound and the U.S. Dollar added approximately $1.0 million to sales in the second quarter and approximately $3.0 million for the first half of the year.

Operating income from transportation systems in the second quarter improved to $11.9 million compared to $6.9 million last year. Higher sales and improved profit margins from the U.K. contracts mentioned above and profits from increased spares sales in the U.S. contributed to the increase for the quarter. In addition, last year's second quarter results included a loss provision of $4.7 million for several contracts in North America compared to only $0.9 million this year. However, last year's second quarter results also included contract settlements with two customers that added $3.9 million to operating income in that quarter.

For the first half of the fiscal year, transportation systems operating income more than doubled from $9.2 million to $19.2 million. As described above for the second quarter, higher sales and profit margins from contracts in the U.K. and higher U.S. spares sales contributed much of the increase. In the first half of 2007, cost growth of $5.4 million on several North American contracts and $3.9 million on a contract in Sweden had adversely affected operating income; however, contract settlements also added $5.2 million to last year's operating profits. In the first half of 2008, cost growth on these same contracts was limited to $2.1 million.

A higher average exchange rate between the British Pound and the U.S. Dollar added approximately $0.4 million to operating income in the second quarter and approximately $0.7 million for the first half of the year.

Backlog

As reflected in the table below, total backlog decreased $93.2 million at March 31, 2008 compared to September 30, 2007. Transportation systems backlog decreased $9.1 million and defense backlog decreased $84.1 million during the six-month period. Delayed award of two multi-year service contracts in the Mission Support business was the primary cause of the decrease in total backlog during the period. Funded backlog decreased $5.8 million during the period, with transportation systems decreasing $9.1 million and defense funded backlog increasing by $3.3 million.

	March 31, 2008	September 30, 2007
(in millions)
Total backlog
Transportation systems	$ 778.2	$ 787.3
Defense:

Communications and electronics	51.8	56.4
Tactical systems and other	26.6	30.6
Total defense	1,162.9	1,247.0
Total	$ 1,941.1	$ 2,034.3
Funded backlog
Transportation systems	$ 778.2	$ 787.3
Defense:
Mission support services	123.7	131.2
Readiness systems	402.8	383.4

Tactical systems and other	26.6	30.6
Total defense	604.9	601.6
Total	$ 1,383.1	$ 1,388.9

In defense, the difference between total backlog and funded backlog represents options under multi-year service contracts. Funding for these contracts comes from annual operating budgets of the U.S. government and the options are normally exercised annually. Options for the purchase of additional systems or equipment are not included in backlog until exercised nor are indefinite delivery, indefinite quantity contracts until an order is received.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Operating activities provided cash of $25.1 million for the first half of the fiscal year. In addition to net income for the period, customer advances and reductions in accounts receivable and prepaid expenses contributed to the positive cash flows. Positive operating cash flows came from both the transportation systems and defense segments, with the greater portion coming from the defense systems segment.

Investing activities for the six-month period included capital expenditures of $4.9 million and net positive cash flows from the liquidation of short-term investments of $27.2 million. In light of the turmoil in the credit market, we made a portfolio shift to shorter duration investments.

Financing activities for the first six months included scheduled payments on our long-term debt of $5.8 million.

Our financial condition remains strong with working capital of $301.1 million and a current ratio of 2.8 to 1 at March 31, 2008. We expect that cash on hand and our unused lines of credit will be adequate to meet our liquidity requirements for the foreseeable future.

Critical Accounting Policies, Estimates and Judgments

Our financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles that are generally accepted in the United States. The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. We continually evaluate our estimates and judgments, the most critical of which are those related to revenue recognition, income taxes, valuation of goodwill and pension costs. We base our estimates and judgments on historical experience and other factors that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. Materially different results can occur as circumstances change and additional information becomes known.

Besides the estimates identified above that are considered critical, we make many other accounting estimates in preparing our financial statements and related disclosures. All estimates, whether or not deemed critical affect reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, as well as disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities. These estimates and judgments are also based on historical experience and other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. Materially different results can occur as circumstances change and additional information becomes known, even for estimates and judgments that are not deemed critical. Refer to Note 8 for discussion of the Company's implementation of FIN 48, which has affected the method for calculating income tax liabilities.

For further information, refer to the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto included in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended September 30, 2007.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT ABOUT FORWARD-LOOKING INFORMATION

This report, including the documents that we incorporate by reference, contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that are subject to the safe harbor created by those sections. Any statements about our expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, assumptions or future events or our future financial and/or operating performance are not historical and may be forward-looking. These statements are often, but not always, made through the use of words or phrases such as may, will, anticipate, estimate, plan, project, continuing, ongoing, expect, believe, intend, predict, potential, opportunity and similar words or phrases of these words or phrases. These statements involve estimates, assumptions and uncertainties, including those discussed in Risk Factors in the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended September 30, 2007, and throughout this filing that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in these statements.

Because the risk factors referred to above could cause actual results or outcomes to differ materially from those expressed in any forward-looking statements made by us or on our behalf, you should not place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements. In addition, past

Further, any forward-looking statement speaks only as of the date on which it is made, and we undertake no obligation to update any forward-looking statement to reflect events or circumstances after the date on which the statement is made or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events. New factors emerge from time to time, and it is not possible for us to predict which factors will arise. In addition, we cannot assess the impact of each factor on our business or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements.

ITEM 4 - STATEMENT ON DISCLOSURE CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES.

We maintain disclosure controls and procedures, including internal control over financial reporting, which are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in our periodic filings with the SEC is reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms, and to provide reasonable assurance that assets are safeguarded and transactions are properly executed and recorded. Our disclosure controls and procedures are also designed to ensure that information is accumulated and communicated to our management, including our Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and Chief Financial Officer (CFO), as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. In designing and evaluating such controls and procedures, we recognize that any controls and procedures, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance of achieving the desired control objectives, and management necessarily is required to use its judgment in evaluating the cost-benefit relationship of possible controls and procedures.

We routinely review our system of internal control over financial reporting and make changes to our processes and systems to improve controls and increase efficiency, while ensuring that we maintain an effective internal control environment. Changes may include such activities as implementing new, more efficient systems and migrating certain processes from our operating units to our corporate shared service center. In addition, if we acquire new businesses, we will review the controls and procedures of the acquired business as part of our integration activities.

We performed an evaluation of the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures as of March 31, 2008. The evaluation was performed with the participation of senior management of each business segment and key corporate functions, and under the supervision of the CEO and CFO. Based on our evaluation, we concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were effective as of March 31, 2008.

There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the most recently completed fiscal quarter that materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.
