NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Unaudited)

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Principles of Consolidation and Reporting

These unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Northrop Grumman Corporation and subsidiaries (herein referred to as "Northrop Grumman," the "company," "we," "us," or "our"). Material intercompany accounts, transactions, and profits are eliminated in consolidation. Investments in equity securities and joint ventures where the company has significant influence, but not control, are accounted for using the equity method.

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of the company have been prepared by management in accordance with the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for interim reporting purposes. These statements include adjustments of a normal recurring nature considered necessary by management for a fair presentation of the company's consolidated financial position, results of operations, and cash flows.

The results reported in these financial statements are not necessarily indicative of results that may be expected for the entire year. These financial statements should be read in conjunction with the information contained in the company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2012 (2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K).

The quarterly information is labeled using a calendar convention; that is, first quarter is consistently labeled as ending on March 31, second quarter as ending on June 30, and third quarter as ending on September 30. It is management's long-standing practice to establish actual interim closing dates using a "fiscal" calendar, in which we close our books on a Friday near these quarter-end dates in order to normalize the potentially disruptive effects of quarterly closings on business processes. This practice is only used at interim periods within a reporting year.

Accounting Estimates

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements are prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP). The preparation thereof requires management to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingencies at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Estimates have been prepared using the most current and best available information; however, actual results could differ materially from those estimates.

The majority of our contracts are accounted for under the percentage-of-completion method. For such contracts, changes in estimates of contract sales, costs, or profits are recognized using the cumulative catch-up method of accounting. This method recognizes, in the current period, the cumulative effect of the changes on current and prior periods, and revenue and profit on future periods of contract performance are recognized as if the revised estimate had been used since contract inception. Changes in contract estimates occur for a variety of reasons, including changes in contract scope, estimated revenue and cost estimates. These changes are often driven by events such as changes in estimated incentive fees, unanticipated risks affecting contract costs, the resolution of risk at lower or higher cost than anticipated, and changes in indirect cost allocations, such as overhead and general and administrative expenses. We employ an extensive contract management process involving several functional organizations and numerous personnel who are skilled at managing contract activities. Changes in estimates are frequent; the company performs on a broad portfolio of long-term contracts, many of which include complex and customized aerospace and electronic equipment and software, that often includes technology at the forefront of science.

Significant changes in estimates on a single contract could have a material effect on the company's consolidated financial position or annual results of operations, and where such changes occur, separate disclosure is made of the nature, underlying conditions and financial impact of the change. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, aggregate net changes in contract estimates recognized using the cumulative catch-up method of accounting increased operating income by $247 million ($0.68 per diluted share) and $421 million ($1.15 per diluted share), respectively. During the three and six months ended June 30, 2012, such changes in contract estimates increased operating income by $222 million ($0.57 per diluted share) and $487 million ($1.24 per diluted share), respectively. No discrete event or adjustment to an individual contract was material to the condensed consolidated statements of earnings and comprehensive income for any of these periods.

As of June 30, 2013, the amounts related to claims and requests for equitable adjustment recognized in estimated contract values were not material individually or in aggregate.

Table of Contents

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION

As of June 30, 2013, the company did not have any contract terminations in process that would have a material effect on our consolidated financial position or annual results of operations.

Related Party Transactions

For all periods presented, the company had no material related party transactions.

Accounting Standards Updates

Accounting standards updates effective after June 30, 2013, are not expected to have a material effect on the company's consolidated financial position or annual results of operations.

Accumulated Other Comprehensive Loss

The components of accumulated other comprehensive loss are as follows:

$ in millions	June 30, 2013		December 31, 2012
Unamortized benefit plan costs, net of tax benefit of $3,044 as of June 30, 2013, and $3,149 as of December 31, 2012	$(4,631)	$(4,790)
Cumulative translation adjustment	(3)	4)
Net unrealized loss on marketable securities and cash flow hedges, net of tax benefit	(1)	(1)
Total accumulated other comprehensive loss	$(4,635)	$(4,787)

Unamortized benefit plan costs consist primarily of net after-tax actuarial losses totaling $4.9 billion and $5.1 billion as of June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012, respectively. Net actuarial gains or losses are re-determined annually and principally arise from changes in the rate used to discount the benefit obligations and differences in expected and actual returns on plan assets.

Reclassifications from other comprehensive income to net earnings related to the amortization of benefit plan costs were $79 million and $159 million, net of taxes, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, respectively, and were $54 million and $104 million, net of taxes, for the three and six months ended June 30, 2012, respectively. The reclassifications represent the amortization of net actuarial losses and prior service credits for the company's retirement benefit plans, and are included in the computation of net periodic pension cost (See Note 8 for further information).

Reclassifications from other comprehensive income to net earnings, relating to cumulative translation adjustments, marketable securities and effective cash flow hedges for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013 and 2012, respectively, were not material. Reclassifications for cumulative translation adjustments and marketable securities are recorded in other income, and reclassifications for effective cash flow hedges are recorded in operating income.

2. EARNINGS PER SHARE, SHARE REPURCHASES AND DIVIDENDS ON COMMON STOCKBasic Earnings Per Share

We calculate basic earnings per share by dividing net earnings by the weighted-average number of shares of common stock outstanding during each period.

Diluted Earnings Per Share

Diluted earnings per share includes the dilutive effect of awards granted to employees under stock-based compensation plans. The dilutive effect of these securities totaled 3.5 million shares and 4.0 million shares for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, respectively. The dilutive effect of these securities totaled 3.9 million shares and 4.5 million shares for the three and six months ended June 30, 2012, respectively. The weighted-average diluted shares outstanding excludes anti-dilutive stock options because such options have exercise prices in excess of the average market price of the company's common stock during the period. We had no anti-dilutive shares outstanding for the three months ended June 30, 2013, and 0.7 million anti-dilutive shares outstanding for the six months ended June 30, 2013. The weighted-average diluted shares outstanding for the three and six months ended June 30, 2012, exclude anti-dilutive stock options to purchase approximately 2.8 million shares in both periods.

Share Repurchases

The table below summarizes the company's share repurchases:

Repurchase Program Authorization Date	Amount Authorized (in millions)	Total Shares Retired (in millions)	Average Price Per Share ⁽³⁾	Shares Repurchased (in millions)
				Six Months Ended June 30 2013	2012

May 15, 2013 ⁽²⁾	$4,000	—	—	—	—

On June 16, 2010, the company's board of directors authorized a share repurchase program of up to $2.0 billion of the company's common stock. Following this initial authorization, the board of directors increased the remaining repurchase authorization to $4.0 billion in April 2011. After further repurchases reduced the remaining

(1) authorization to less than $1 billion, the board of directors again increased the remaining authorization to $2.0 billion in September 2012 ("2010 Repurchase Program"). As of June 30, 2013, our repurchases under the program totaled $4.8 billion, and $557 million remained under the 2010 Repurchase Program. The 2010 Repurchase Program will expire when we have used all authorized funds for repurchase.

On May 15, 2013, the company's board of directors authorized a new share repurchase program of up to $4.0 billion of the company's common stock ("2013 Repurchase Program"). Repurchases under the 2013 Repurchase (2) Program will commence upon completion of the 2010 Repurchase Program. The 2013 Repurchase Program will expire when we have used all authorized funds for repurchase.

(3) Includes commissions paid.

Share repurchases take place from time to time, subject to market conditions and management's discretion, in the open market or in privately negotiated transactions. The company retires its common stock upon repurchase and has not made any purchases of common stock other than in connection with these publicly announced repurchase program authorizations.

Dividends on Common Stock

In May 2013, the company increased the quarterly common stock dividend 11 percent to $0.61 per share from the previous amount of $0.55 per share.

In May 2012, the company increased the quarterly common stock dividend 10 percent to $0.55 per share from the previous amount of $0.50 per share.

3. SEGMENT INFORMATION

The company is aligned into four reportable segments: Aerospace Systems, Electronic Systems, Information Systems, and Technical Services. The United States (U.S.) Government is the primary customer for all four of our segments. The company, from time to time, acquires or disposes of businesses and realigns contracts, programs or business areas among and within its operating segments. Portfolio shaping and internal realignments are designed to more fully leverage existing capabilities and enhance development and delivery of products and services.

Net FAS/CAS Pension Adjustment

The net FAS (GAAP Financial Accounting Standards)/CAS (U.S. Government Cost Accounting Standards) pension adjustment is the difference between pension expense determined in accordance with GAAP and pension expense allocated to the operating segments determined in accordance with CAS. The net FAS/CAS pension adjustments for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, were comparable to the same periods in 2012.

Unallocated Corporate Expenses

Unallocated corporate expenses include the portion of corporate expenses not considered allowable or allocable under applicable CAS regulations and the Federal Acquisition Regulation, and are therefore not allocated to the segments. Such costs consist of a portion of management and administration, legal, environmental, compensation costs, retiree benefits, and certain unallowable costs such as lobbying activities, among others.

4. INCOME TAXES

$ in millions	Three Months Ended June		Six Months Ended June
	30		30
	2013	2012	2013	2012
Federal and foreign income tax expense	$236	$247	$459	$497
Effective income tax rate	32.6	% 34.0	% 32.0	% 33.5

The company's lower effective tax rates for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, reflect the benefit of the American Taxpayer Relief Act, which reinstated research tax credits for 2012 and 2013. During the six months ended June 30, 2013, the company recorded $23 million of research tax credits representing estimated full year 2012 research tax credits and half of the expected 2013 research tax credits.

The company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to uncertain tax positions in federal and foreign income tax expense. The company files income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction, and in various state and foreign jurisdictions. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is conducting an examination of the company's tax returns for the years 2007 through 2011. With respect to the tax years 2007 through 2009, the company has reached a tentative settlement with the IRS subject to final review by the U.S. Congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. It is reasonably possible that during the next twelve months, we will record a reduction in our unrecognized tax benefits up to $80 million and a reduction of our income tax expense up to $50 million.

Other open tax years related to state and foreign jurisdictions remain subject to examination, but are not considered material.

5. FAIR VALUE OF FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The following table presents fair value information for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis:

$ in millions	June 30, 2013		December 31, 2012
	Carrying Value	Fair Value	Carrying Value	Fair Value

There were no transfers of financial instruments between the three levels of fair value hierarchy during the six months ended June 30, 2013.

The carrying value of cash and cash equivalents approximates fair value.

Investments in Marketable Securities

The company holds a portfolio of marketable securities to partially fund long-term deferred compensation programs. The portfolio consists of equity securities that are classified as either trading or available-for-sale, which can be liquidated without restriction. These assets are recorded at fair value and are valued using Level 1 inputs. As of June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012, marketable securities of $274 million and $261 million, respectively, were included in other non-current assets in the condensed consolidated statements of financial position.

Derivative Financial Instruments and Hedging Activities

The company's derivative portfolio consists primarily of foreign currency forward contracts. The notional values for the company's derivative portfolio at June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012, were $169 million and $164 million, respectively. The portion of notional values designated as cash flow hedges at June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012, were $68 million and $110 million, respectively.

Derivative financial instruments are recognized as assets or liabilities in the financial statements and measured at fair value. Substantially all of these instruments are valued using Level 2 inputs.

Unrealized gains or losses on the effective portion of cash flow hedges are reclassified from other comprehensive income to operating income upon the settlement of the underlying transactions. The derivative fair values and related unrealized gains and losses at June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012, were not material. Hedge contracts not designated for hedge accounting and the ineffective portion of cash flow hedges are recorded in other income.

Long-term Debt

The fair value of long-term debt is calculated using Level 2 inputs based on interest rates available for debt with terms and maturities similar to the company's existing debt arrangements.

Debt Issuance and Redemption

In May 2013, the company issued $2.85 billion of unsecured senior notes consisting of $850 million due June 1, 2018 with a fixed interest rate of 1.75 percent; $1.05 billion due August 1, 2023 with a fixed interest rate of 3.25 percent; and $950 million due June 1, 2043 with a fixed interest rate of 4.75 percent (collectively, the Notes). Interest on the Notes is payable semi-annually in arrears. The Notes are subject to redemption at the company's discretion at any time, or from time to time, prior to maturity in whole or in part at the greater of the principal amount of the Notes or a “make-whole” amount, plus accrued and unpaid interest. The company used a portion of the net proceeds to fund the redemption of $350 million of the company's 3.70 percent unsecured senior notes due

August 1, 2014, and $500 million of 1.85 percent unsecured senior notes due November 15, 2015. During the quarter ended June 30, 2013, the company recorded a pre-tax charge of $30 million principally related to the premiums paid on the redemption, which was recorded in Other, Net in the condensed consolidated statements of earnings and comprehensive income.

6. LITIGATION, INVESTIGATIONS AND CLAIMS

Litigation

The company is one of several defendants in litigation brought by the Orange County Water District in Orange County Superior Court in California on December 17, 2004, for alleged contribution to volatile organic chemical contamination of the County's shallow groundwater. The lawsuit includes counts against the defendants for violation of the Orange County Water District Act, the California Super Fund Act, negligence, nuisance, trespass and declaratory relief. Among other things, the lawsuit seeks unspecified damages for the cost of remediation, payment of attorney fees and costs, and punitive damages. Trial on the statutory claims (those based on the Orange County Water District Act, the California Super Fund Act and declaratory relief) concluded on September 25, 2012. On December 11, 2012, the court issued a tentative decision on these claims in favor of the company and the other remaining defendants. On May 10, 2013, the court issued a supplemental tentative decision, which included additional findings supporting its earlier tentative decision in favor of the company and the other remaining defendants on the statutory causes of action tried in 2012. The court has not yet set a trial date for the remaining causes of action.

On May 4, 2012, the company commenced an action, Northrop Grumman Systems Corp. v. United States, in the U.S. Court of Federal Claims. This lawsuit relates to an approximately $875 million firm fixed price contract awarded to the company in 2007 by the U.S. Postal Service (USPS) for the construction and delivery of flats sequencing systems (FSS) as part of the postal automation program. The FSS have been delivered. The company's lawsuit is based on various theories of liability. The complaint seeks approximately $63 million for unpaid portions of the contract price and direct costs incurred, and approximately $115 million based on the company's assertions that, through various acts and omissions over the life of the contract, the USPS adversely affected the cost and schedule of performance and materially altered the company's obligations under the contract. The United States responded to the company's complaint with an answer, denying most of the company's claims, and counterclaims, seeking approximately $410 million, less certain amounts outstanding under the contract. The principal counterclaim alleges that the company delayed its performance and caused damages to the USPS because USPS did not realize certain costs savings as early as it had expected. On April 2, 2013, the U.S. Department of Justice informed the company of a False Claims Act complaint relating to the FSS contract. The company believes the complaint was filed under seal by a relator in mid-2011 in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia. In the partially unsealed complaint, the relator alleges that the company violated the False Claims Act in a number of ways with respect to the FSS contract, alleges damage to the USPS in an amount of at least approximately $179 million annually, and seeks an unspecified partial refund of the contract purchase price, penalties, attorney's fees and other costs of suit. Damages under the False Claims Act may be trebled upon a finding of liability. The relator also alleges he or she was improperly discharged in retaliation. Although the ultimate outcome of these matters, including any possible loss, cannot be predicted or estimated at this time, the company intends vigorously to pursue and defend these matters.

The company is a party to various investigations, lawsuits, claims and other legal proceedings, including government investigations and claims, that arise in the ordinary course of our business. The nature of legal proceedings is such that we cannot assure the outcome of any particular matter. However, based on information available to the company to date and other than with respect to the FSS matters, which are discussed separately above, the company does not believe that the outcome of any matter pending against the company is likely to have a material adverse effect on the company's consolidated financial position as of June 30, 2013, or its annual results of operations or cash flows.

7. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Guarantees of Subsidiary Performance Obligations

From time to time in the ordinary course of business, the company guarantees obligations of its subsidiaries under certain contracts. Generally, the company is liable under such an arrangement only if its subsidiary is unable to perform under its contract. Historically, the company has not incurred any substantial liabilities resulting from these guarantees.

Table of Contents

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION

In addition, the company's subsidiaries may enter into joint ventures, teaming and other business arrangements (collectively, Business Arrangements) to support the company's products and services in domestic and international markets. The company generally strives to limit its exposure under these arrangements to its subsidiary's investment in the Business Arrangements or to the extent of such subsidiary's obligations under the applicable contract. In some cases, however, the company may be required to guarantee the performance of the Business Arrangements and, in such cases, the company generally obtains cross-indemnification from the other members of the Business Arrangements.

At June 30, 2013, the company is not aware of any significant existing event of default that would require it to satisfy any of these guarantees.

U.S. Government Cost Claims

From time to time, the company is advised of claims by the U.S. Government concerning certain potential disallowed costs, plus, at times, penalties and interest. When such findings are presented, the company and the U.S. Government representatives engage in discussions to enable the company to evaluate the merits of these claims, as well as to assess the amounts being claimed. Where appropriate, provisions are made to reflect the company's estimated exposure for matters raised by the U.S. Government. Such provisions are reviewed on a quarterly basis using the most recent information available. The company believes that it has adequately reserved for any disputed amounts and that the outcome of any such matters would not have a material adverse effect on its consolidated financial position as of June 30, 2013, or its annual results of operations or cash flows.

Environmental Matters

The company has been named a Potentially Responsible Party by the Environmental Protection Agency or similarly designated state or local agencies at certain current or formerly owned or leased sites. The estimated cost to complete remediation has been accrued where the company believes, based on the facts and circumstances known to the company, it is probable the company will incur costs to address environmental impacts. As of June 30, 2013, management estimates the range of reasonably possible future costs for environmental remediation is between $325 million and $779 million, before considering the amount recoverable through overhead charges on U.S. Government contracts. At June 30, 2013, the amount accrued for probable environmental remediation costs was $347 million, of which $98 million is accrued in other current liabilities and $249 million is accrued in other non-current liabilities. A portion of the environmental remediation costs is expected to be recoverable through overhead charges on government contracts and, accordingly, such amounts are deferred in inventoried costs and other non-current assets. As of June 30, 2013, $62 million is deferred in inventoried costs and $122 million is deferred in other non-current assets. These amounts are evaluated for recoverability on a routine basis. Although management cannot predict whether new information gained as projects progress or changes in facts and circumstances will materially affect the estimated liability accrued, management does not anticipate future remediation expenditures will have a material adverse effect on the company's consolidated financial position as of June 30, 2013, or its annual results of operations or cash flows.

Financial Arrangements

In the ordinary course of business, the company uses stand-by letters of credit and guarantees issued by commercial banks and surety bonds issued principally by insurance companies to guarantee the performance on certain obligations. At June 30, 2013, there were $203 million of stand-by letters of credit, $251 million of bank guarantees, and $166 million of surety bonds outstanding.

Indemnifications

The company has retained certain warranty, environmental, income tax, and other potential liabilities in connection with certain of its divestitures. The settlement of these liabilities is not expected to have a material adverse effect on the company's consolidated financial position as of June 30, 2013, or its annual results of operations or cash flows.

Operating Leases

Rental expense for operating leases for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, was $74 million and $148 million, respectively, and was $97 million and $181 million for the three and six months ended June 30, 2012, respectively. These amounts are net of immaterial amounts of sublease rental income.

The company also sponsors defined contribution plans. For the three months ended June 30, 2013 and 2012, contributions of $75 million and $76 million, respectively, were made to these plans. For the six months ended June 30, 2013 and 2012, contributions of $150 million and $152 million, respectively, were made to these plans.

9. STOCK COMPENSATION PLANS AND OTHER COMPENSATION ARRANGEMENTS

Stock Awards

In February 2013, the company granted 0.4 million restricted stock rights (RSRs) and 1.1 million restricted performance stocks rights (RPSRs) to certain employees under the company's long-term incentive stock plan, with a grant date aggregate fair value of $96 million. The RSRs will vest on the third anniversary of the grant date, while the RPSRs will vest and pay out based on the achievement of financial metrics for the three-year period ending December 31, 2015.

Cash Awards

In February 2013, the company granted 30 million cash units (CUs) and 69 million cash performance units (CPUs) to certain employees, with a minimum aggregate payout amount of $30 million and a maximum aggregate payout amount of $168 million. The CUs will vest and settle in cash on the third anniversary of the grant date, while the CPUs will vest and pay out in cash based on the achievement of financial metrics for the three-year period ending December 31, 2015.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of
Northrop Grumman Corporation
Falls Church, Virginia

We have reviewed the accompanying condensed consolidated statement of financial position of Northrop Grumman Corporation and subsidiaries as of June 30, 2013, and the related condensed consolidated statements of earnings and comprehensive income for the three-month and six-month periods ended June 30, 2013 and 2012, and cash flows and changes in shareholders' equity for the six-month periods ended June 30, 2013 and 2012. These interim financial statements are the responsibility of the Corporation's management.

We conducted our reviews in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). A review of interim financial information consists principally of applying analytical procedures and making inquiries of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters. It is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole.

Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to such condensed consolidated interim financial statements for them to be in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

We have previously audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the consolidated statement of financial position of Northrop Grumman Corporation and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2012, and the related consolidated statements of earnings and comprehensive income, cash flows, and changes in shareholders' equity for the year then ended (not presented herein); and in our report dated February 4, 2013, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those consolidated financial statements. In our opinion, the information set forth in the accompanying condensed consolidated statement of financial position as of December 31, 2012, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the consolidated statement of financial position from which it has been derived.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

OVERVIEW

Northrop Grumman Corporation (herein referred to as "Northrop Grumman," the "company," "we," "us," or "our") is a leading global security company providing innovative systems, products and solutions in unmanned systems, cyber, C4ISR, and logistics and modernization to government and commercial customers worldwide through four reportable segments: Aerospace Systems, Electronic Systems, Information Systems and Technical Services. We participate in many high-priority defense and government services programs in the United States (U.S.) and abroad as a prime contractor, principal subcontractor, partner, or preferred supplier. We conduct the majority of our business with the U.S. Government, principally the Department of Defense (DoD) and intelligence community. We also conduct business with foreign, state, and local governments, as well as domestic and international commercial customers. The following discussion should be read along with the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Form 10-Q, as well as our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K, which provides a more thorough discussion of our systems, products and solutions; political and economic environment; industry outlook; and business trends. See further discussions in the Consolidated Operating Results and Segment Operating Results sections that follow.

Political and Economic Environment

The U.S. Government continues to face substantial fiscal and economic challenges, which affect funding for its non-discretionary and discretionary budgets. Part I of the Budget Control Act of 2011 (Budget Control Act) provided for a reduction in planned defense budgets by at least $487 billion over a ten year period and the fiscal year (FY) 2013 impacts were incorporated in the government's FY 2013 budget. Part II mandated substantial additional reductions, through a process known as "sequestration," which took effect March 1, 2013, and resulted in approximately $40 billion of additional reductions to the FY 2013 defense budget.

On March 26, 2013, the President signed into law the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2013 (the Act), which includes specific appropriations for our major federal customers, including the DoD. These appropriations remained subject to further reductions or sequestration under the Budget Control Act. Although we are not yet able to determine all program specific impacts, we expect the reduced FY 2013 budget levels will result in lower 2013 awards; related impacts to company revenues, earnings and cash flows likely will trail reduced awards. On April 10, 2013, the President delivered his proposed FY 2014 budget to Congress. The President's $527 billion FY 2014 defense budget is slightly lower than final defense appropriations for FY 2013. While it largely reflects defense spending plans in the FY 2013 budget, it does not reflect the reductions mandated by Part II of the Budget Control Act. The Congressional appropriation and authorization of FY 2014 defense spending is likely to be marked by significant debate and an uncertain schedule. If Congress does not take legislative action, sequestration will be applied to defense spending in FY 2014. In addition, if Congress does not timely pass a FY 2014 defense appropriation or a continuing resolution, we may be required to continue to perform for some period of time on certain of our U.S. Government contracts even if the U.S. Government is unable to make timely payments. Sequestration as currently mandated remains a significant long-term risk.

On June 14, 2013, the DoD provided a report to Congress on how it proposed to distribute the reductions required by sequestration across spending accounts and funding lines in FY 2013. We are evaluating how these potential reductions might impact our programs and how best to address them. Considerable uncertainty exists regarding how budget reductions beyond the current fiscal year will be applied and what challenges the reductions will present for the defense industry. We believe sequestration will have serious negative consequences for the security of our country, the defense industrial base, including Northrop Grumman, and the customers, employees, suppliers, investors, and communities that rely on companies in the defense industrial base. Although it is difficult to determine specific impacts, especially over the longer term, we expect that sequestration, as currently provided for under the Budget Control Act, would result in lower revenues, profits and cash flows for our company. Members of Congress continue to discuss various options to address sequestration in future budget planning, but we cannot predict the outcome of these efforts. It is likely that budget decisions made in this environment will have long-term impacts on our company and the entire defense industry.

The nation's debt ceiling also continues to be a major outstanding fiscal issue, with the debt limit currently expected to be reached later this year. Congress and the Administration continue to debate raising the debt ceiling, among other fiscal issues, as they negotiate plans for long-term national fiscal policy. The outcome of these debates could have a significant impact on future defense spending. In addition, if the existing statutory limit on the amount of permissible federal debt is not raised, we may be required to continue to perform for some period of time on certain of our U.S. Government contracts even if the U.S. Government is unable to make timely payments.

-15-

Table of Contents

Faced with continued budget uncertainty and continued threats to national security, the DoD is reviewing the roles and structure of the U.S. military. In January 2012, the DoD announced a new defense strategy intended to guide its priorities and budgeting decisions. The strategy calls for the U.S. military to project power globally and operate effectively in all domains, including cyberspace, and places particular emphasis on Asia Pacific as an area of strategic focus. In March 2013, the Secretary of Defense directed senior Pentagon officials to conduct a comprehensive strategic review of the DoD strategy, including examination of the choices underlying the strategy, force posture, investments and institutional management in light of the budgetary and strategic environment. The results of this review are expected to inform future strategic decisions and budget planning, as well as influence the next Quadrennial Defense Review, which is to be completed and delivered to Congress in 2014. Actions stemming from the review, as well as any alternative budget plans proposed by the DoD and considered by Congress, may impact future funding for the company's programs.

We believe spending on recapitalization, modernization and maintenance of defense, intelligence, and homeland security assets will continue to be a national priority. Future defense spending is expected to include the development and procurement of new manned and unmanned military platforms and systems, along with advanced electronics and software to enhance the capabilities of existing individual systems and provide real-time integration of surveillance, information management, strike and battle management platforms. We expect significant new competitive opportunities to include long range strike, missile defense, command and control, network communications, enhanced situational awareness, satellite systems, restricted programs, cybersecurity, technical services and information technology, as well as numerous international and homeland security programs.

Operating Performance Assessment and Reporting

We manage and assess the performance of our business based on our performance on contracts and programs (two or more closely-related contracts), with consideration given to the Critical Accounting Policies, Estimates and Judgments described in Part II, Item 7 of our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K. Revenue on our portfolio of long-term contracts is primarily recognized using the cost-to-cost method of percentage of completion accounting, but in some cases the units-of-delivery method of percentage of completion accounting. As a result, sales tend to fluctuate in concert with costs across our large portfolio of contracts. Due to Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) rules that govern our business, most types of costs are allowable, and we do not focus on individual cost groupings (such as manufacturing, engineering and design labor costs, subcontractor costs, material costs, overhead costs, and general and administrative costs), as much as we do on total contract cost, which is the key driver of our sales and operating income.

Our contract management process involves the use of contract estimates-at-completion (EACs) that are generally prepared and evaluated on a bottoms-up basis at least annually and reviewed on a quarterly basis over the contract's period of performance. These EACs include an estimated contract operating margin based initially on the contract award amount, adjusted to reflect estimated risks related to contract performance. These risks typically include technical risk, schedule risk and performance risk based on our evaluation of the contract effort. Similarly, the EACs may include identified opportunities for operating margin rate improvement. Over the contract's period of performance, our program management organizations perform evaluations of contract performance and adjust the contract revenue and cost estimates to reflect the latest reliable information available.

Our business and program management organizations are comprised of skilled professional managers whose objective is to satisfy the customer's expectations, deliver high quality products and services, and manage contract cost risks and opportunities to achieve an appropriate operating margin rate on the contract. Our comprehensive business and contract management process is a coordinated process involving personnel with expertise from various disciplines including engineering, production control, contracts, cost management, mission assurance and quality, finance and supply chain, among others. As part of this overall contract management function, personnel monitor compliance with our critical accounting policies related to contract accounting and compliance with U.S. Government regulations.

Contract operating income and period-to-period contract operating margin rates are adjusted over the contract's period of performance to reflect the latest estimated revenue and cost for the contract, including changes in the risks and opportunities affecting the contract. Such adjustments are accounted for under the cumulative catch-up method of accounting and may have a favorable or unfavorable effect on operating income depending upon the specific conditions affecting each contract.

Table of Contents

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION

In evaluating our operating performance, we look primarily at changes in sales and operating income, including the effects of meaningful changes in operating income as a result of changes in contract estimates. Where applicable, significant fluctuations in operating performance attributable to individual contracts or programs, or changes in a specific cost element across multiple contracts are described in our analysis. Based on this approach and the nature of our operations, the discussion of results of operations first focuses around our four reportable segments before distinguishing between products and services. Changes in sales are generally described in terms of volume, deliveries or other indicators of sales activity, and contract mix. For purposes of this discussion, volume generally refers to increases or decreases in cost or sales from production/service activity levels or delivery rates. Performance refers to changes in contract margin rates for the period, primarily related to the changes in estimates referred to above.

The net FAS/CAS pension adjustment is pension expense determined in accordance with GAAP less pension expense charged to contracts and included in segment operating income. Unallocated corporate expenses generally include the portion of corporate expenses, other than FAS pension costs, not considered allowable or allocable under applicable CAS and FAR rules, and therefore not allocated to the segments, such as a portion of management and administration, legal, environmental, certain compensation and retiree benefits, and other expenses.

Sales

Sales for the three months ended June 30, 2013, were comparable to the same period in 2012, and for the six months ended June 30, 2013, decreased $74 million, or 1 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012.

Operating Costs and Expenses

Operating costs and expenses are primarily comprised of labor, material, subcontractor and overhead costs, and are generally allocated to contracts as incurred. In accordance with industry practice and the regulations that govern cost accounting requirements for government contracts, most general management and corporate expenses incurred at the segment and corporate locations are considered allowable and allocable costs. These general and administrative costs are generally allocated on a systematic basis to contracts in progress.

Operating costs and expenses comprise the following:

Product and service costs	$4,906	$4,920	$ 9,693	$ 9,761

Operating Income

We define operating income as sales less operating costs and expenses, which includes general and administrative expenses. Changes in estimated contract operating income at completion, resulting from changes in estimated sales, operating costs and expenses, are recorded using the cumulative catch-up method of accounting. The aggregate effects of these changes in our estimated costs at completion, across our portfolio of contracts, can have a significant effect on our reported sales and operating income in each of our reporting periods. Cumulative catch-up operating income adjustments are presented in the table below:

$ in millions	Three Months Ended June 30		Six Months Ended June 30
	2013	2012	2013	2012
Favorable adjustments	$324	$299	$ 547	$ 609
Unfavorable adjustments	(77)	(77)	(126)	(122)
Net favorable adjustments	$247	$222	$ 421	$ 487

Segment Operating Income

Segment operating income is defined as operating income less certain corporate-level expenses that are not considered allowable or allocable under applicable CAS or FAR and net FAS/CAS pension differences. Segment operating income increased for the three months ended June 30, 2013, principally due to higher net favorable adjustments than in the prior period. Segment operating income decreased for the six months ended June 30, 2013, principally due to lower sales and net favorable adjustments than in the prior period. For further information by segment refer to Segment Operating Results below.

Federal and Foreign Income Tax Expense

The effective tax rates for the three and six months ended June 30, 2013, were 32.6 percent and 32.0 percent, respectively, compared with 34.0 percent and 33.5 percent for the three and six months ended June 30, 2012. During the six months ended June 30, 2013, the company recorded $23 million of research tax credits representing estimated full year 2012 research tax credits and half of the expected 2013 research tax credits.

Diluted Earnings Per Share

Diluted earnings per share for the three months ended June 30, 2013, increased $0.17, or 9 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012. The higher diluted earnings per share reflects the impact of 2012 and 2013 share repurchases, and higher earnings. Diluted earnings per share for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $0.24, or 6 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012. The higher diluted earnings per share reflects the impact of 2012 and 2013 share repurchases, partially offset by lower earnings.

Cash from Operating Activities

For the three months ended June 30, 2013, net cash from operating activities decreased $548 million, as compared with the same period in 2012, principally driven by a $500 million voluntary pension contribution made in April 2013. For the six months ended June 30, 2013, net cash from operating activities decreased $442 million, as compared with the same period in 2012, principally driven by a $500 million voluntary pension contribution made in April 2013, partially offset by improved trade working capital.

SEGMENT OPERATING RESULTS

Basis of Presentation

We are aligned into four reportable segments: Aerospace Systems, Electronic Systems, Information Systems, and Technical Services. This section discusses reportable segment sales, operating income and operating margin rates. The reconciliation of segment sales to total sales is provided in Note 3 to the condensed consolidated financial statements in Item 1, with the difference being intersegment sales eliminations. The reconciliation of segment operating income to total operating income, as well as a discussion of the reconciling items, is provided in Note 3 to the condensed consolidated financial statements in Item 1. For purposes of the discussion in this Segment Operating Results section, references to operating income and operating margin rate reflect segment operating income and segment operating margin rate.

Aerospace Systems sales for the three months ended June 30, 2013, increased $209 million, or 9 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012, due to higher volume for manned military aircraft, unmanned and space programs. The increase for manned military aircraft was primarily due to higher F-35 volume resulting from unit deliveries under the low rate initial production (LRIP) lot 5 contract, the first lot accounted for under the units-of-delivery method. Prior F-35 lots were accounted for under the cost-to-cost method. There were 11 LRIP 5 units delivered in the second quarter of 2013 and no deliveries on LRIP 5 in the second quarter of 2012. Higher unmanned volume reflects program ramp-ups principally on NATO AGS and Fire Scout, partially offset by lower volume on Global Hawk. The increase in space sales reflects higher volume for the Advanced Extremely High Frequency (AEHF) and James Webb Space Telescope (JWST) programs, partially offset by lower volume for restricted programs.

Operating income for the three months ended June 30, 2013, increased $44 million, or 15 percent, and operating margin rate increased to 12.9 percent from 12.1 percent. Higher operating income and operating margin rate primarily reflect higher sales volume described above as well as higher net favorable adjustments than in the prior period, including improved performance on space programs.

Year to Date

Aerospace Systems sales for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $311 million, or 6 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012, due to higher volume for manned military aircraft, unmanned and space programs. The increase for manned military aircraft was primarily due to higher F-35 volume resulting from unit deliveries under the LRIP lot 5 contract, the first lot accounted for under the units-of-delivery method. Prior F-35 lots were accounted for under the cost-to-cost method. There were 21 LRIP 5 units delivered in the first six months of 2013 and no deliveries on LRIP 5 in the first six months of 2012. Higher unmanned volume reflects program ramp-ups principally on NATO AGS and Fire Scout, partially offset by lower volume on Global Hawk. The increase in space sales reflects higher volume for the AEHF and JWST programs, partially offset by lower volume for restricted programs.

Operating income for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $35 million, or 6 percent, principally due to the higher sales volume described above. Operating margin rate of 11.9 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2013, was comparable to the same period in 2012.

Electronic Systems sales for the three months ended June 30, 2013, increased $27 million, or 2 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012. Higher volume on international, tactical sensor, and space programs was partially offset by lower volume on navigation, combat avionics and maritime systems programs due to program completions, as well as lower volume for laser systems and infrared countermeasures programs.

Operating income for the three months ended June 30, 2013, increased $46 million, or 17 percent, and operating margin rate increased to 18.2 percent from 15.8 percent. Higher operating income and operating margin rate were primarily the result of higher net favorable adjustments due to improved performance on marine and space programs.

Year to Date

Electronic Systems sales for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $24 million, or 1 percent, as compared with the same period in 2012. Higher volume on international, tactical sensor, and space programs was partially offset by lower volume on navigation, combat avionics and maritime systems programs due to program completions, as well as lower volume for laser systems and infrared countermeasures programs.

Operating income for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $38 million, or 7 percent, and operating margin rate increased to 17.7 percent from 16.7 percent. Higher operating income and operating margin rate were primarily the result of the reversal of a $26 million non-programmatic risk reserve, as well as improved performance.

Service Sales and Costs

Current Quarter

Service sales for the three months ended June 30, 2013, decreased $291 million, as compared with the same period in 2012, primarily due to lower sales volume at Information Systems and Technical Services as described in the Segment Operating Results section above, partially offset by higher sales on certain military aircraft and other programs at Aerospace Systems.

Service costs for the six months ended June 30, 2013, decreased $513 million, as compared with the same period in 2012, primarily due to lower service sales at Information Systems and Technical Services across a number of programs, as described in the Segment Operating Results section above, partially offset by higher sales on certain military aircraft and other programs at Aerospace Systems.

BACKLOG

Total backlog includes both funded backlog (firm orders for which funding is authorized and appropriated by the customer) and unfunded backlog. Unexercised contract options and indefinite delivery indefinite quantity (IDIQ) contracts are not included in backlog until the time the option or IDIQ task order is exercised or awarded. For multiyear service contracts with non-U.S. Government customers having no stated contract values, backlog includes only the amounts committed by the customer. Backlog is converted into sales as costs are incurred or deliveries are made.

Backlog consisted of the following at June 30, 2013, and December 31, 2012:

$ in millions	June 30, 2013			December 31, 2012
	Funded	Unfunded	Total Backlog	Total Backlog

New Awards

The estimated value of new contract awards recorded during the six months ended June 30, 2013, was $10.3 billion. On a net basis, awards during the six months ended June 30, 2013, totaled $9.3 billion, reflecting $1.0 billion of adjustments to reduce Information Systems unfunded backlog principally associated with expired periods of performance on active contracts, including several previously awarded task orders on IDIQ contracts. New awards during this period include $1.3 billion for the F-35 program, $782 million for the AEHF program, $318 million for the Global Hawk program, $286 million for the B-2 program, and $274 million for the E-2D Advanced Hawkeye program.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

We endeavor to ensure the most efficient conversion of operating income into cash for deployment in our business and to maximize shareholder value. In addition to our cash position, we use various financial measures to assist in capital deployment decision-making, including cash provided by operating activities, free cash flow, net debt-to-equity, and net debt-to-capital. We believe these measures are useful to investors in assessing our financial performance and condition.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN CORPORATION

In May 2013, the company's board of directors authorized a new share repurchase program of up to $4.0 billion of the company's common stock. Repurchases under this program will commence once the 2010 repurchase program is complete. Additionally, the company announced that it currently plans to repurchase shares with the goal of retiring approximately 25 percent of its outstanding shares by the end of 2015, market conditions permitting.

In May 2013, the company issued $2.85 billion of unsecured senior notes (the Notes). The company used a portion of the net proceeds to redeem $850 million of unsecured senior notes due in 2014 and 2015 (see Note 5 in Part I, Item 1). The remaining net proceeds from the offering of the Notes will be used for general corporate purposes, including debt repayments, share repurchases, pension plan funding, acquisitions and working capital.

Cash balances and cash generated from operating activities, supplemented by borrowings under credit facilities and/or in the capital markets, if needed, is expected to be sufficient to fund our operations for at least the next 12 months.

The table below summarizes key components of cash flow provided by operating activities:

Free Cash Flow from Operations

Free cash flow from operations is defined as cash provided by operating activities less capital expenditures. We believe free cash flow from operations is a useful measure for investors to consider as it represents the cash flow the company has available after capital spending to invest for future growth, strengthen the balance sheet and/or return to shareholders through dividends and share repurchases. Free cash flow is a key factor in our planning for and consideration of strategic acquisitions, the payment of dividends and stock repurchases.

Free cash flow from operations is not a measure of financial performance under GAAP, and may not be defined and calculated by other companies in the same manner. This measure should not be considered in isolation as a measure of residual cash flow available for discretionary purposes or as an alternative to operating results presented in accordance with GAAP as indicators of performance.

The table below reconciles cash provided by operating activities to free cash flow from operations:

$ in millions	Three Months Ended		Six Months Ended June
	June 30		30
	2013	2012	2013	2012
Net cash provided by operating activities	$328	$876	$329	$771

Cash Flows

The following is a discussion of our major operating, investing and financing cash flows from operations for the six months ended June 30, 2013 and 2012, as classified in the condensed consolidated statements of cash flows in Part I, Item 1.

Operating Activities

Net cash from operating activities for the six months ended June 30, 2013, decreased $442 million, as compared to the same period in 2012. The decrease was principally driven by a $500 million voluntary pension contribution made in April 2013, partially offset by improved trade working capital.

Investing Activities

Net cash from investing activities for the six months ended June 30, 2013, decreased $244 million, as compared to the same period in 2012, due to $250 million in proceeds from the maturity of short-term investments in 2012.

Financing Activities

Net cash from financing activities for the six months ended June 30, 2013, increased $1.6 billion, as compared to the same period in 2012. The increase was primarily due to the net proceeds of $2.0 billion from the debt transaction described above, which was partially offset by higher repurchases of common stock.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

We have provided information about certain legal proceedings in which we are involved in our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K, and updated that information in Note 6 to the condensed consolidated financial statements in Part I, Item 1 of this report.

We are a party to various investigations, lawsuits, claims and other legal proceedings, including government investigations and claims, that arise in the ordinary course of our business. These types of matters could result in fines, penalties, compensatory or treble damages or non-monetary relief. United States (U.S.) Government regulations also provide that certain allegations against a contractor may lead to suspension or debarment from future U.S.

Government contracts or suspension of export privileges for the company or one or more of its components. Suspension or debarment could have a material adverse effect on the company because of the company's reliance on government contracts and authorizations. The nature of legal proceedings is such that we cannot assure the outcome of any particular matter. However, based on information available to us to date and other than as noted in our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K, as updated by Note 6 to the condensed consolidated financial statements in this report, we do not believe that the outcome of any matter pending against the company is likely to have a material adverse effect on the company's condensed consolidated financial position as of June 30, 2013, or its annual results of operations or cash flows.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

The following is an update to two of our risk factors described in our 2012 Annual Report on Form 10-K and should be read in conjunction with the risk factors therein.

Significant delays or reductions in appropriations for our programs and U.S. Government funding more broadly may negatively impact our business and programs and could have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

U.S. Government programs are subject to annual congressional budget authorization and appropriation processes. For many programs, Congress appropriates funds on a fiscal year basis even though the program performance period may extend over several years. Consequently, programs are often partially funded initially and additional funds are committed only as Congress makes further appropriations. If we incur costs in excess of funds obligated on a contract, we may be at risk for reimbursement of those costs unless and until additional funds are obligated to the contract. We cannot predict the extent to which total funding and/or funding for individual programs will be included, increased or reduced as part of the annual budget process ultimately approved by Congress or in separate supplemental appropriations or continuing resolutions, as applicable. The impact, severity and duration of the current U.S. economic situation and plans adopted by the U.S. Government, along with pressures on, and uncertainty surrounding, the federal budget and the permissible federal debt limit, could adversely affect the funding for individual programs and delay purchasing or payment decisions by our customers. In the event that government funding for our significant programs becomes unavailable, or is reduced or delayed, our contract or subcontract under such programs may be terminated or adjusted by the U.S. Government or the prime contractor, which could have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations and/or cash flows.

In August 2011, Congress enacted the Budget Control Act of 2011 (Budget Control Act). Part I of the Budget Control Act provided for a reduction in planned defense budgets of at least $487 billion over a ten year period, and the fiscal year (FY) 2013 impacts were incorporated in the government's FY 2013 budget. Part II mandated substantial additional reductions through a process known as "sequestration," which took effect March 1, 2013, and resulted in approximately $40 billion of additional reductions to the FY 2013 defense budget.

We are unable to predict the impact that the automatic cuts required by the Budget Control Act or other defense spending cuts would have on funding for our individual programs. Long-term funding for certain programs in which we participate may be reduced, delayed or cancelled. In addition, these cuts could adversely affect the viability of our suppliers and subcontractors. While we believe that our business is well-positioned in areas that the Department of Defense (DoD) has indicated are areas of focus for future defense spending, the impact of the Budget Control Act or other defense spending cuts and the ongoing fiscal debates remain uncertain and our business and industry could be materially adversely affected.

On March 26, 2013, the President signed into law the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2013 (the Act), which includes specific appropriations for our major federal customers, including the DoD.

These appropriations remained subject to further reductions or sequestration under the Budget Control Act. Although we are not yet able to determine all program specific impacts, we expect the reduced FY 13 budget levels will result in lower 2013 contract awards; related impacts to company revenues, earnings and cash flows likely will trail reduced awards.

On April 10, 2013, the President delivered his proposed FY 2014 budget to Congress. The President's $527 billion FY 2014 defense budget is slightly lower than final defense appropriations for FY 2013. While it largely reflects defense spending plans in the FY 2013 budget, it does not reflect the reductions mandated by Part II of Budget Control Act. The Congressional appropriation and authorization of FY 2014 defense spending is likely to be marked by significant debate and an uncertain schedule. If Congress does not take legislative action, sequestration will be applied to defense spending in FY 2014. In addition, if Congress does not timely pass a FY 2014 defense appropriation or a continuing resolution, we may be required to continue to perform for some period of time on certain of our U.S. Government contracts even if the U.S. Government is unable to make timely payments. An extended delay in timely payments by the U.S. Government would likely result in a material adverse effect on our financial position and cash flows. Sequestration as currently mandated remains a significant long-term risk.

On June 14, 2013, the DoD provided a report to Congress on how it proposed to distribute the reductions required by sequestration across spending accounts and funding lines in FY 2013. We are evaluating how these potential reductions might impact our programs and how best to address them. Considerable uncertainty exists regarding how budget reductions beyond the current fiscal year will be applied and what challenges the reductions will present for the defense industry. We believe sequestration will have serious negative consequences for the security of our country, the defense industrial base, including Northrop Grumman, and the customers, employees, suppliers, investors, and communities that rely on companies in the defense industrial base. Although it is difficult to determine specific impacts, especially over the longer term, we expect that sequestration, as currently provided for under the Budget Control Act, would result in lower revenues, profits and cash flows for our company. Members of Congress continue to discuss various options to address sequestration in future budget planning, but we cannot predict the outcome of these efforts. It is likely budget decisions made in this environment will have long-term impacts on our company and the entire defense industry.

The nation's debt ceiling also continues to be a major outstanding fiscal issue, with the debt limit currently expected to be reached later this year. Congress and the Administration continue to debate raising the debt ceiling, among other fiscal issues, as they negotiate plans for long-term national fiscal policy. The outcome of these debates could have a significant impact on future defense spending. In addition, if the existing statutory limit on the amount of permissible federal debt is not raised, we may be required to continue to perform for some period of time on certain of our U.S. Government contracts even if the U.S. Government is unable to make timely payments. An extended delay in the timely payment of billings by the U.S. Government would likely result in a material adverse effect on our financial position and cash flows.

Changes to business practices for U.S. Government contractors could have a significant adverse effect on current programs, potential new awards and the processes by which procurements are awarded and managed.

Our industry has experienced, and we expect it will continue to experience, significant changes to business practices as a result of an increased focus on affordability, efficiencies, and recovery of costs, among other items, and a reprioritization of available defense funds to key areas for future defense spending. For example, the DoD's Better Buying Power Initiative continues to evolve in its efforts to reduce costs, gain efficiencies, refocus priorities and enhance business practices used by the DoD, including those used to procure goods, services and solutions from defense contractors. In addition, the DCMA has implemented cost recovery initiatives designed to prioritize efforts to recover costs and close open audits. As a result of certain of these initiatives, we have experienced and may continue to experience an increased number of audits and/or a lengthened period of time required to close open audits. More recently, the thresholds for certain allowable costs, including compensation costs, are being challenged or debated. Significant changes to the thresholds for allowable costs could adversely affect our financial position, results of operations and cash flows.

These efforts have had, and we expect them to continue to have, a significant impact on the contracting environment in which we do business. In support of the implementation of the Better Buying Power Initiative, the U.S. Government is issuing new regulations and requirements that are shifting additional responsibility and performance risks to the contractor. While the impact to our business as a result of these changes remains uncertain, our business and industry could be materially adversely affected.
