ITEM 1.01. ENTRY INTO A MATERIAL DEFINITIVE AGREEMENT.

On December 27, 2005, Oscient Pharmaceuticals Corporation filed a Current Report on Form 8-K to disclose, among other things, that the Company had, as a result of changes in tax laws, adopted a plan to cancel certain outstanding discounted stock options that had been granted with an exercise price less than fair market value at the time of grant and issue replacement options with an exercise price equal to the current fair market value of the company's common stock. As a result of an error, the original 8-K misstated the total number of discounted stock options which are subject to cancellation and, accordingly, the total amount of cash payments to be made pursuant to such cancellation. Therefore, the first two paragraphs under Item 1.01 of the Current Report on Form 8-K, as amended, will now read as follows:

The American Jobs Creation Act of 2004 added to the Internal Revenue Code new Section 409A, which, among other things, imposes additional tax burdens on amounts that are deemed under the new rules to be deferred compensation. Historically, in an effort to conserve cash while maintaining competitive compensation levels, Oscient Pharmaceuticals Corporation (the Company) has paid 50% of annual employee and officer bonuses, as well as some director fees, in the form of discounted stock options (i.e. options for which the exercise price is less than the fair market value of the Company's common stock on the date of grant of the option). Under the tax rules in place at the time of grant, these discounted stock options were not taxable until exercised. As a result of Section 409A, the portion of these options that had not vested prior to January 1, 2005 would be treated as currently taxable deferred compensation at the time of vesting. The amount of the option-related deferred compensation that is taxable at time of vesting would be includible in taxable income at that time and the optionee would also be subject to an additional tax equal to 20% of that amount. There are currently 6 directors and 16 employees of the Company, including Steven M. Rauscher and Stephen Cohen, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer of the Company, respectively, that hold a total of 69,889 discounted stock options that vested after January 1, 2005.

On December 21, 2005, in accordance with transition guidance issued by the Internal Revenue Code in connection with Section 409A, the Board of Directors of the Company approved a plan to cancel the outstanding discounted stock options and issue replacement options with an exercise price equal to the current fair market value of the Company's common stock. The replacement options are not discounted and therefore will not be subject to the additional taxes imposed by Section 409A. Because the replacement options have a higher exercise price than the canceled discounted options, a cash payment in an amount equal to the aggregate spread between the two exercise prices, as well as an amount to cover the tax payable in respect of such payment, will be made to each affected optionee. The cash payments under this plan will total approximately $63,000. The Company does not anticipate issuing discounted stock options as part of employee compensation in the future.
