Fellow Towers Watson & Company Shareholders,

Driehaus Capital Management LLC is the investment adviser for funds that own 697,000 shares of Towers Watson. We have issued a white paper that provides detailed analysis of the proposed transaction and outlines for all Towers Watson & Company (TW) shareholders a decisive case for why it is in the interests of TW shareholders to vote against the proposed Willis Holdings Group plc (WSH) transaction.

The following is a summary of some of the white paper's key points. To read the white paper in its entirety, please go to the following link: driehauscapitalmanagement.com/pdf/strategies/Driehaus-TW-White-Paper-0915.pdf

THE STANDALONE ALTERNATIVE OFFERS SUPERIOR VALUE TO TOWERS WATSON SHAREHOLDERS

The standalone alternative offers TW shareholders between 39%-53% more value than the proposed combination with Willis Group

Towers Watson shares have declined by 15% since the transaction was announced, reflecting the value-destructive nature of the combination

THE PROPOSED EQUITY SPLIT TRANSFERS VALUE FROM TOWERS WATSON SHAREHOLDERS TO WILLIS STAKEHOLDERS

The offer was made at a 9% discount, representing a takeover; Towers Watson is the only US target this year not to receive a premium

The proposal ignores Towers Watson's superior growth prospects and market valuation and implies a significant enterprise value premium for Willis Group despite WSH's material operational challenges

SYNERGY VALUATIONS ARE MATERIALLY INFLATED AND FAIL TO COMPENSATE FOR VALUE DESTRUCTION

Management's estimates of net present value synergies are grossly inflated because they use P/E for capitalization; when capitalized at a realistic multiple, synergies are blatantly insufficient to bridge the value-destruction gap

THE PROPOSAL EXPOSES SHAREHOLDERS TO A RISKY AND DEBT-LADEN WILLIS RESTRUCTURING

After three years of operating margin contraction, Willis announced a four-year $410 million restructuring plan in April 2014. The plan is unproven and exposes TW shareholders to material risk

Willis Group's debt/EBITDA is more than 3x; prior to the announcement, the company faced a prospective downgrade to non-investment grade amid continued credit-metric deterioration

The transaction proposed by Willis Holdings Group will destroy value for Towers Watson & Company's shareholders. Once again, we urge fellow shareholders to vote against this proposal.

Sincerely,

/s/ K.C. Nelson

Driehaus Capital Management Issues Open Letter to Towers Watson Shareholders Opposing its Proposed Transaction with Willis Holdings

CHICAGO, Ill., September 14, 2015 – Driehaus Capital Management, a Chicago-based investment adviser of funds that own 697,000 shares of Towers Watson & Company (NASDAQ: TW), released an open letter to its fellow TW shareholders regarding TW's proposed transaction with Willis Holdings Group plc (NYSE: WSH). Driehaus states that it intends to vote the shares owned by the Driehaus funds against the proposed transaction. The letter and an accompanying paper explain why the proposed transaction does not adequately compensate TW shareholders.

The full text of the letter is provided below:
