CryptoLogic discloses letter to ex-CEO concerning EGM request

February 24, 2009 (Dublin, IRELAND) – CryptoLogic Limited, aworld leader in Internet casino and branded gaming software, is today filing with U.S. and Canadian regulatory authorities the letter sent to ex-CEO Javaid Aziz that details the deficiencies in his requisitions for an extraordinary general meeting (EGM). The letter also outlines the board of directors' issues and concerns with Mr. Aziz's conduct during and after his tenure as CEO, and the reasons behind the board's view that he is not suitable for a position on the board of CryptoLogic.

CryptoLogic sent the letter to Mr. Aziz on February 22 and provided him until 5:00 pm Eastern Time on February 23 to advise the company of how he intended to address the deficiencies in his requisitions. At the time of this release, the company has not received a response.

The letter also expresses the board's strong view that an EGM – with its substantial distraction and expense -- is not in the best interests of shareholders at a time when the board and management are focusing on returning the company to profitability. CryptoLogic's new business strategy is in the advanced stages of implementation, and shareholders will have an opportunity to evaluate the company's progress at an annual general meeting expected in late May or early June.

The complete letter to Mr. Aziz will be available on the EDGAR and SEDAR sites, which are accessible from the investor page of the CryptoLogic site (http://www.cryptologic.com/investor23.asp). To view a copy of the letter, click here.
